Kennedy Not Certain If Missile Gap Exists

Still Believes Nation Facing Greatest Peril

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy conceded Wednesday he does not know whether there is a "missile gap" or not—but he does still believe the nation is entering the years of its greatest peril.

Kennedy backed away, at his third news conference in three weeks as President, from his campaign charges that Russia is outnumbering the United States in missiles for three years.

The Pentagon now is pressing studies to provide a clearer answer on the balance of strategic weapons power, the President said. Until then, he declared, any judgment is premature.

"Of course, it is my hope that the United States is fully secure," Kennedy said.

Attempt To Calm Storm

"If it is not, I think it is important that we know about it, and . . . I will then take the responsibility of passing on to the Congress this collective judgment as to our position, and what needs to be done."

The President spoke rapidly, as usual, but plainly was choosing his words carefully in this effort to calm a storm that blew up after a briefing of reporters Monday at the Pentagon.

The Defense Department source identified Wednesday as Secretary Robert S. McNamara—was described in news stories as saying preliminary findings indicate that the much-discussed missile gap did not exist.

Tuesday night, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger rejected any such conclusion. He declared, after talking with Kennedy, that the stories were premature, inaccurate, and without foundation.

Kennedy's words Wednesday left things up in the air again.

Two Standout Points

But two points stood out: First, any U. S. missile lag—once acknowledged even by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's secretary of defense, Neil H. McElroy—no longer can be taken for granted. And second, to the extent the presumed gap may have been narrowed or closed, the U. S. hand is strengthened in the game of world politics.

Eisenhower had hinted at a new appraisal of U. S. and Russian missile strength in one of his final messages to Congress. He said: "The 'bomber gap' of several years ago was always a fiction, and the 'missile gap' shows every sign of being the same."

But Kennedy did not retreat a bit from the warning he issued in his State of the Union message a fortnight ago—that each day brings the country "nearer the hour of maximum danger. . . . The tide of events has been running out, and time has not been our friend."

Ike Begins Vacation In Sunny California

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—A smiling former President Dwight D. Eisenhower began an extended vacation in the sunny desert Wednesday with an immediate round of golf, saying he had no plans "beyond this shot."

Eisenhower was jovial as he started a round of golf on the Eldorado Country Club course with three close friends under brilliant skies. The temperature was near 80 degrees.

Eisenhower, who arrived here earlier with his wife Mamie and a small personal staff, was asked if he would play any of the other golf courses in the area.

"I don't know," he said. "I have no plans beyond this shot."

Kennedy Will Take Role In Integration If Action Justified

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy pledged Wednesday to use the "moral authority" and influence of the White House in the New Orleans school integration crisis and other civil rights disputes whenever such action promises results.

He told a news conference his administration was "carefully considering" what specific steps to take in New Orleans where segregationists have organized a campaign to block white children from entering schools opened to Negro pupils.

He indicated these steps would be disclosed later. But he promised that "at such time as I think it is most useful and most effective, I will attempt to use the moral authority or position of influence of the presidency in New Orleans and in other places."

The wide-ranging news conference, the third held by the President since he entered the White House 19 days ago, produced these other major developments: —The administration has not yet completed a study which should show whether there is a "missile gap" between the United States and Russia. The President said the study should be completed by Feb. 20 and until then "we are not prepared to make a judgment."

—Kennedy will meet this week with Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. ambassador to Russia, "to chart our future relations with the Soviet Union." The President said he hoped some "full results" could be worked out with the Russians concerning such issues as the Congo and Laos.

—The administration is giving "high priority" to problems stemming from the attempt by Fidel Castro's Cuban regime to "export its revolution" to the rest of Latin America.

—The United States has no information that the 7.1-ton satellite launched by Russia last week carried a man into space. Kennedy said the United States will not rush a man into space for "prestige" purposes, but will be extremely careful to assure his safety even if it means "we're going to come in second."

Kennan Envoy To Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has chosen George F. Kennan, former U.S. envoy to the Soviet Union, to be ambassador to Yugoslavia.

Kennedy also announced the selection of Livingston T. Merchant as ambassador to Canada. Merchant served as envoy to Canada for a time during the Eisenhower administration, and later as undersecretary of state for political affairs.

Kennan, a veteran Foreign Service officer, now is a professor at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University. He has had extensive government service in foreign affairs.

Ham Lives Up To Name In Films Of Space Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ham the chimpanzee lived up to his name, hamming it up for all he was worth in a motion picture of his recent rocket ride into space. His grimaces, flashing eyes and teeth-baring scowls outdid some of the most flamboyant stars of the silent movie days as he portrayed the role of the intrepid employer venturing into the unknown.

Big Electrical Firms Facing Damage Suits

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Governmental agencies and private utilities, stirred by the bust-up of electrical firm price-fixing and bid-rigging, Wednesday studied prospects of recovering millions of dollars in alleged overcharges through antitrust civil suits.

The threat of massive legal actions, made by officials from coast to coast, came in the wake of the successful federal prosecution on antitrust charges of 29 of America's biggest electrical manufacturers and 45 of their top executives.

The companies were fined a total of $1,787,000 for the illegal conspiracy to destroy free competition in the sale of equipment used to light homes and power battleships, among everything else electric.

The 44 executives—one will be sentenced later—were fined $137,500 and seven were ordered jailed for 30 days. Total fines imposed by U.S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Ganey, in the mass sentencing Monday and Tuesday, were $1,924,500.

President Kennedy noted at his news conference Wednesday the efforts made by the electrical firms to defraud the government. He condemned "conflicts of interest and monopolistic practices, as well as immoral practices conducted in the American business community."

The President suggested business might well consider establishing a code of ethical practices, just as unions have done.

Speaking out for the unions, James B. Carey, president of the International Electrical Workers said if the major electrical companies were capable of criminal behavior against the government they won't hesitate to act the same way against their employees.

With the criminal prosecution out of the way, described by the Justice Department as the biggest antitrust case in the 71-year history of the law, the government hopes to get quick company agreements on "cease and desist" orders before filing damage suits for the Army, Navy, Interior Department and other agencies.

Weaver Wins Senate Group Endorsement

Negro Is Approved As Housing Chief By Vote Of 11 To 4

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert C. Weaver won Senate committee approval Wednesday for his nomination to the highest federal post ever held by a Negro. But he ran into more "no" votes than any other nominee of President Kennedy.

By an 11-4 vote, the Senate Banking Committee approved Weaver as administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The opposition came from three Southern Democrats and a Republican.

Their questioning indicated they voted against the Negro for two reasons: His views favoring eventual integrated housing, and accusations linking him with Communist-front organizations. Weaver denied membership in the organizations cited.

Weaver Again Testifies

In contrast to Tuesday's hearing, Wednesday's session moved with dispatch. The committee heard Weaver and two other witnesses in the morning and, minutes later, voted in favor of his nomination.

The session Tuesday was delayed two hours by Chairman A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., until President Kennedy rushed to Capitol Hill a letter saying he had reviewed and evaluated the normal FBI loyalty report on Weaver. Then the Southerners, particularly Sen. William A. Blakley, D-Tex., questioned Weaver closely about his views and associations.

Administration leaders had hoped Weaver would be approved by the full Senate this week. But Robertson said the committee would make its formal report Thursday, and the Senate probably would not take up the nomination until Feb. 20, the end of the annual, informal recess Congress takes so Republicans can speak at Lincoln Day dinners and rallies.

Beall Votes For Weaver

Since Robertson voted against Weaver, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., a strong supporter of the nomination, will make the committee's formal report to the Senate.

Besides Robertson and Blakley, Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., chairman of the housing subcommittee, and Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, voted against Weaver.

Voting for approval were Douglas and Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, William Proxmire, D-Wis., Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., Edward V. Long, D-Mo., Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., Prescott Bush, R-Conn., J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Break In Main Routs Hundreds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 48-inch water main burst with explosive force early Wednesday at the crest of a hill in an old residential area of North St. Louis. A wall of water surged into a low-lying neighborhood, routing hundreds of sleep-eyed residents in 20-degree cold.

"This thing went up like a gusher," said John Howard, who was driving up the hill toward his sandwich shop. "The water poured down East Grand toward me. I backed up as fast as I could."

An elderly couple, rescued by boat from waist-high water near the front door of their flooded home, was hospitalized for exposure and frostbite. Two other persons were released after treatment.

No one was killed. Public Safety Director Joseph P. Sestric said first estimates of property damage were "at least $500,000."

Three shetland ponies and one llama drowned in a barn at the bottom of the 20th St. hill, where the ice and snow-choked water reached a depth of about 10 feet before gradually receding.

Evidence Piles Up Against Five Accused Spies

LONDON (AP)—Five persons accused of betraying British naval secrets to Moscow assumed a gay air Wednesday even as fresh evidence piled up against them in Bow Street magistrate's court.

Bookseller Peter Kroger, 50, winked and blew a kiss to someone at a hearing that will decide whether the group must stand trial on charges that could lead to seven years imprisonment.

His wife, Helen, 47, smiled and whispered to him at the starchy testimony of Chief Inspector Ferguson Smith.

Smiles played across the faces of all five when the prosecution introduced a radio transmitter—allegedly used for contacts with a Soviet spy master—found cached in a concrete-topped pit under a trap door in the Krogers' kitchen floor.

Then there were mystery-fiction type Chinese scrolls, a single one of which held $1,800 in American currency, aerial wire, headphones, photographic equipment and a film of signal plans.

British agents testified they seized these objects at homes of the five.

Whether studied acting or relief at a prosecution statement that the government will close its case Thursday, the prisoners' attitude contrasted with their gloomy expressions Tuesday in the dock.

Accused with the Krogers are Gordon A. Lonsdale, 36, the reputed mastermind; Harry Frederick Houghton, 55, and his fiancée, Miss Ethel Elizabeth Gee, 46, both British civil servants who held positions of trust at the Royal Navy's underwater weapons establishment at Portland.

Attorney General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller said Tuesday Lonsdale "seems to be a Russian" though he carried a Canadian passport.

Russia's New Sputnik Becomes 'Where's-nik'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new seven-ton Soviet Sputnik Wednesday took on some of the aspects of a "where's-nik."

Some space officials here and abroad indicated that thus far they had been unable either 1. to see the big Soviet satellite or 2. pin down definitely that they had heard radio signals from it.

The Defense Department declined to say whether it had tracked it.

However, President Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday that, "We have, of course, some information" about the rocket. Noting that a good deal of this information has appeared in the press, Kennedy said it is a large rocket and "it may be part of their experiments leading up to placing a man in space."

Naples Mob Riots, Burns; 68 Injured

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Thousands of infuriated Neapolitans wrecked stores and set fire to buses, streetcars and a rail station in downtown Naples Wednesday night after a sudden strike left them without transportation home.

Italian army units and armored cars helped police restore order in a four-hour battle that left 68 injured. The rioting was the worst here in years. More than 100 rioters were arrested.

A big part of the downtown area of this sea-coast city of more than a million looked like a battlefield.

Eleven trolley buses, streetcars and buses were left smoldering skeletons. The main suburban rail station was a burned-out shell.

A police truck was set ablaze. Dozens of stores and bars were severely damaged, their windows broken and neon signs demolished.

Officials estimated total damage in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Galvao Still Plots Salazar Overthrow

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI)—Capt. Henrique Galvao, Portuguese revolutionary leader who seized the luxury liner Santa Maria, said Wednesday he is still plotting to overthrow Portuguese Premier Antonio Salazar's government.

Galvao issued an appeal for support from "all democratic governments" and said:

"I hope these governments understand and do not oppose our movement."

He said he and aides are working on secret plans to continue their campaign against the Salazar regime.

Emergency Declared In Some Cities

Blanket Up To 18 Inches Paralyzes Virginias, Maryland

By United Press International

The town of Front Royal, Va., declared a state of emergency and other cities were crippled under snows up to 18 inches deep Wednesday night in a new wintry onslaught upon the Atlantic Seaboard.

Even though the East's sixth storm of a long and bitter winter was heading northeastward across the Atlantic Ocean, it closed schools and paralyzed traffic through Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina and Pennsylvania.

Front Royal issued its emergency declaration after 16 inches of snow had fallen, with 2 to 3 more inches expected. Other depths included 18 inches elsewhere in Virginia, 17 inches at Cumberland, Md., 15 inches at both Winchester, Va., and Johnstown, Pa.; an even foot at Gettysburg, Pa.; 11 inches at Greensburg, Pa., and a half foot at Pittsburgh.

Three Die In Virginia

Virginia counted three storm-blamed deaths and North Carolina one. Three more fatalities were attributed to a second storm from the Midwest which failed to cross the Appalachians.

The East has been winter's favorite stamping grounds during the winter of 1960-61. In the latest outburst, eight inches of snow knocked out power and telephone service to towns in North Carolina's mountain counties. All of Pittsburgh's public schools closed down.

Highways in northern Virginia were jammed with stalled cars and autos were backed up as far as three and four miles on U.S. 29 and 1 in the state.

D. C. Workers Leave Early

Weathermen described the combination of rain, sleet and snow which slicked Washington as a "mixed up mess." National Airport closed down at noon, government workers were sent home early for the third time in three weeks, and traffic got snarled into gigantic jams during the rush hour.

Even though the Northeast was spared additional snow, the weather bureau warned that tides along the Delaware and New Jersey coasts would be two to three feet above normal. Sleet and rain falling from central Virginia to southern New Jersey was expected to change to snow.

New York city was still struggling to dig out of 17.4-inch snows which fell five days ago. The Sanitation Department hoped to finally finish plowing the city's streets Wednesday, but a ban against private auto traffic on New York's 6,000 miles of streets remained in force.

Roads Closed

The snows closed West Virginia state Route 7 in Preston County and a rock slide cut off a lane of traffic on a main highway between Sutton and Gassaway. Auto travel in Virginia was crippled and some secondary roads in Ohio were blocked.

In Pittsburgh, officials modified their school closing order to let children who brought their lunches stay until the regular dismissal time. The teachers did not want to run the risk of sending the children home in the storm at a time when the parents might be away.

Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr sent out an urgent plea to motorists to stay out of the downtown area if they possibly could. The Pennsylvania Railroad promised it would put additional cars onto its commuter trains to handle the rush hour jam.

Twin Girls Born 22 Days Apart

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)—A Belmont, Calif., mother has given birth to twin girls 22 days apart, her doctor disclosed Wednesday.

Mrs. Beulah Swift, 40, wife of a charcoal manufacturer, first entered Mills Memorial Hospital Jan. 9 and gave birth to a tiny girl who died two days later. The girl was three months premature.

The second child, also a girl, was born Jan. 31. She weighed 30 ounces and has been kept in a specially-equipped incubator since that time.

Minow Supported

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Commerce Committee Wednesday unanimously approved the nomination of Newton N. Minow, 35, Chicago, to a seven-year term on the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

'Literary Scofflaw' Issue Has Community In Stew

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—This community stewed Wednesday over the "literary scofflaws" men paid fines of $25 each, controversy as four more readers charged against three others were paid court fines of $10 to $25 for overdue library books.

But the pain in the purse was nothing compared to the anger over such indignities as being arrested, hauled off to police headquarters, and then being detained for failure to make bond.

Mayor James W. Kelly was "shocked and surprised" at the results of a city ordinance passed last September providing for fines up to $200 and 30-day jail terms for persons failing to return library books.

Library Director Harold Roth, technically the complainant in the cases, was "not very happy" when his home phone rang all night with calls from irate citizens and newspapers including the London Daily Mail.

"This is an expensive way to collect books, for both the city and the people," Roth said. "We didn't want to implement the ordinance. We just want to get the material back."

The furor began Monday night when police started rounding up library patrons who had failed to read their overdue notices. Eleven persons whose library cards were charged with books for periods ranging from several months to almost a year were brought in or summoned to police headquarters.

Six who were unable to post a $100 fine were confined overnight. The arrests were made in the evening and some past midnight because that was the time people were found at home.

Kennedy Will Keep U.S. Troops In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy firmly pledged Wednesday to keep American troops assigned to the Atlantic Alliance in Europe.

Furthermore, it is understood from other sources, the administration will come out shortly with an endorsement of an offer made by former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter to furnish the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with a nuclear striking force under its own command.

At the outset of his news conference the President described NATO as "our central and most important defensive alliance."

The United States, Kennedy declared, will remain "a full and energetic partner" with the other 14 members of the alliance, and "in particular we wish to maintain our military strength in Europe."

Moonshiners Using Squeeze Bottles In Pinch

WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest fad in bootlegging is "moonshine by the squirt"—the sale of untaxed whisky in plastic squeeze bottles.

"This bow to modernity was not made by choice," the Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday.

"It is a measure of desperation resulting from the intensive drive to dry up sources of containers that can be used in packaging illicit liquor."

A 1959 law permits IRS to require detailed sales reports from distributors suspected of selling to moonshiners the types of containers they traditionally use. These include fruit jars, glass jugs and five-gallon tin cans.

The agency said this measure has been so effective that substitute containers almost always are found now at seized stills in the southern states where moonshining is most prevalent.

At one Georgia installation, 500 squeeze bottles were found. Plastic containers also have been picked up by revenue agents at numerous other stills in Georgia and the Carolinas.

Other substitute containers: plastic bags encased in corrugated paper boxes, gasoline and paint cans, and bottles retrieved from public trash dumps.

The agency said the container pinch has been hurting bootleggers in some sections so much that they have taken to hijacking container shipments.

Quick-Thinking Tot Uses Pepper To Eject Button

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP)—Quick-thinking Dianne Chouinard, 3, climbed a cupboard and grabbed the pepper when a button became lodged in the nose of her 2-year-old sister Denise Wednesday.

She shook the pepper over Denise. Denise sent forth a big sneeze — and out came the button.

Police said Denise was suffocating when Diane performed her "magic." She couldn't explain how she thought of the pepper as a button ejector.

Jet With 97 Aboard Skids Into Snowbank

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Boeing 707 passenger plane with 97 persons aboard slid out of control while attempting a takeoff on a slushy runway at Friendship International Airport Wednesday night and piled into a snow bank. No one was injured.

Airport officials said the jet had traveled about three-quarters of a mile down the runway and never got off the ground. They said the plane did not tip over.

All passengers were taken off the plane, which was bound for Los Angeles. Officials said another flight would take the place of the Trans World Airlines Flight 261.

There was no report of damage to the plane.

Daytona Beach, Fla., attracts more visitors in summer than in winter. They are attracted by sports car races and speed tests.

Castro Plans Shakeup Of Top Cuba Agencies

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro plans to make Ernesto Guevara, Argentine-born leftist, the industrial boss of Cuba, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

Now head of the Cuban National Bank, Guevara would head a super-ministry of industry in a major shakeup of four agencies and possibly a fifth.

This is the picture diplomats gave after discussions with Cuban officials.

The new Ministry of Industry will control the activities of the National Bank, giving it the main lever on financing new development projects.

It will also take over the powerful industrial department of the Institute of Agrarian Reform which divided up Cuba's large estates for distribution to peasants.

On the military front, radio broadcaster Jose Pardo Llada reported an airdrop of arms, ammunition and food for armed rebels has fallen into government hands.

Pardo Llada said 86 cases of supplies were parachuted from a "pirate plane" from Miami and landed near the Escambray Mountains, out of the rebels' reach.

The army and its huge auxiliary, the workers militia, is trying to root out rebels in the Escambray Mountains of central Cuba. Castro is believed to have mustered 60,000 men against 1,600 to 4,000 rebels.

Issue Of Search-Seizure Argued At Trial Of Rees

BALTIMORE (AP)—The kidnapping trial of Melvin Davis Rees Jr. was in session only 17 minutes Wednesday as opposing attorneys spent most of the day arguing behind closed doors the legal aspects of search and seizure.

A major phase of the government's case against the Hyattsville, Md., dance band musician hung in the balance.

Sitting in on the arguments before Chief District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen was the 32-year-old defendant charged with kidnapping Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27, and her daughter, Susan, 5, for the purpose of killing them.

The Jackson family of four disappeared Jan. 11, 1959, from a rural road near their Apple Grove, Va., home. In March of that year, Carroll V. Jackson Jr. and another daughter, Janet, 13, were found slain near Fredericksburg, Va., and the bodies of Mrs. Jackson and Susan were discovered in a shallow grave near Gambrells, Md.

Judge Thomsen said only that the defense had filed a motion Tuesday "dealing with the admissibility of certain evidence" which required taking testimony out of the presence of the jury.

The judge told newsmen no ruling would be announced from the bench, explaining it would be apparent only as the evidence in question is or is not introduced.

William J. O'Donnell, one of two court-appointed defense attorneys, told newsmen the defense objected to introduction of evidence obtained in an FBI search of the Hyattsville home of Rees' parents.

He said the FBI did not have a search warrant.

The FBI in Baltimore declined comment today but authoritative sources said FBI agents received permission from Rees' parents before making the search, instead of obtaining a warrant.

Asst. U. S. Atty. H. Russell Smouse, in his opening statement to the jury Jan. 30, said the FBI search last June 24 turned up a crudely made secret panel in the wall of a closet in the two-story brick home. Twenty feet down a passageway, he said, was found an imitation alligator case containing an account of the Jackson slayings.

The government said it would prove the account is in Rees' handwriting. It said it also would prove that a .38-caliber Colt pistol with human blood on it — found in the same search — had been owned by Rees since he bought it in January, 1957.

Laos Army Forces Recapture Village

VIENTIANE, LAOS (UPI)—Laotian army forces Wednesday recaptured the village of Ta Vieng, southern gateway to the Plain of Jars, a government spokesman announced.

Ta Vieng is about 30 miles southeast of the Plain in southern Xieng Khouang Province and on a road leading north from the government base at Paksane on the Mekong River.

Retreat Not For Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Wednesday he will not visit the presidential retreat in the Catocin Mountains of Maryland very often.

He also said he has no plans now to use two yachts on which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his family sailed the Potomac River.

Kennedy was asked at his news conference whether he planned to restore the name Shangri-La to the Catocin retreat. That was the name first given to it by former President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The President replied he will keep the name given it by his predecessor, Eisenhower. Eisenhower named the retreat Camp David in honor of his grandson.

"I doubt if I will go there very often," Kennedy said.

Elliott Named Hood College President

FREDERICK (AP)—Dr. Randle Elliott, 47-year-old political scientist in international relations, has been selected the new president of Hood College here, the college board of trustees announced Wednesday.

Dr. Elliott will assume his new post in July, succeeding Dr. Andrew G. Truxal, who retires July 1. He will be the fourth president to serve Hood since its establishment in 1893.

A native of St. Louis County, Mo., Dr. Elliott is a graduate of Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., with MA and Ph D degrees from Harvard University.

He has been a holder of a Rockefeller Research Fellowship and shared in the planning for the Fullbright Fellowship Program.

He has taught at Harvard and Radcliffe College, and during World War II he served in England and later in Germany as Economic Analyst for the U. S. Strategic Bombing Survey. From 1945 to 1946, he was chief reports officer for the U. S. Military Government in Germany.

The Hood College board of trustees also elected Dr. Truxal president emeritus of Hood.

Rubber Tree Program

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (UPI)—More than 650,000 acres of rubber trees will be replanted under Malaya's second five-year plan, and a 10 per cent increase in rubber production is predicted.

The Malayan government has expressed confidence that it will be able to compete successfully against synthetic rubber in the years ahead.

Maryland News In Brief

SYKESVILLE, Md. (AP)—Twenty eight cars of a 72-car Baltimore and Ohio freight train were derailed near here Wednesday morning. No casualties were reported, although 15 of the cars were overturned. The derailment did not block the B&O mainline.

There was no indication that weather was a contributing factor, although the area was blanketed by snow.

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Jacob Forney Young, a prominent Washington County farmer, died at his home here Wednesday. An 1898 graduate of Johns Hopkins University, he had recently marked his 50th anniversary as a director of the Hagerstown Trust Co. he is survived by his wife, three children and a sister.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Esso Standard Oil Co. has announced an increase in the price of heating oil to consumers. It is the third increase of the season and brings fuel oil cost per gallon to 15.3 cents.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Plans for a proposed 300-bed hospital to be constructed in Broening Park overlooking the Baltimore harbor were announced Wednesday by Herman L. Gruen, president of the board of trustees of South Baltimore General Hospital. The building would cost an estimated $9 million.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five Baltimore men are being held without bail on two murder charges each. The five pleaded innocent to charges in the double knife slaying of two men on a South Baltimore street corner Sunday morning.

QUEENSTOWN, Md. (AP)—A large truck loaded with 975 cases of orange juice was recovered Wednesday about 10 miles from a plant from which it was stolen Tuesday night.

The tractor-trailer rig, bearing Florida license plates, disappeared from the Golden Gift Co. plant here. The truck was discovered, undamaged and with its cargo still aboard, near Centerville in Queen Annes County.

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein Wednesday reported alcoholic beverage tax receipts for the past month were down almost $75,000 from the same month a year ago.

Liquor tax receipts totaled $703,994, compared with $779,255 in January, 1960. Wine receipts also were down from $70,492 during January, 1960, to $62,952 this year.

Beer tax receipts were up slightly to $135,131 last January, an increase of $9,690 over January, 1960.

Melt Snow For Water

Omicron Chapter BSP To Entertain At Buffet

Social activities and benefits were discussed at the meeting of Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi conducted by Miss Patricia Golden, Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Helen Arthur, Montgomery Avenue. Following the ritual, routine reports were given.

A contribution was made to the international BSP endowment fund.

The chapter is having a buffet for members and will include husbands and guests. It will be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club Saturday evening. Cards will be played during the evening. The social committee is in charge of arrangements. It consists of Mrs. Eva Sliviak, chairman; Mrs. Frances Frank, Mrs. Bette Adam, Miss Josephine Dorn, Miss Joan MacDonald and Mrs. Virginia Miller.

Omicron Chapter will sponsor a card party and hat show, March 14. It will be held at the Central YMCA using the theme, "Easter Chapeau," with fashions by Rosenbaum's. It will be for the benefit of the hospital service project. Tickets are to be distributed next week, and may be purchased from any chapter member. Models are to be selected and plans completed at the next meeting.

For its service project, the society decided to visit the county home.

BSP County Council card party was discussed, and members were named to serve on the various committees. It will be April 13, in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house for the benefit of the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp. Mrs. Frances Frank is chairman. Miss Golden and Mrs. Sliviak will assist in serving; Miss MacDonald, in the kitchen; Mrs. Frank and Mrs. Anna Kurtz, cleanup; and Mrs. Arthur, candy table; and Mrs. Sliviak, setting up tables.

Recognition was paid to Miss Josephine Dorn, member of Omicron, who placed second in the national name the painting contest, participating with Mrs. Kathrine Grever of Xi Omicron.

A list of members eligible for the Exemplar degree was compiled and forwarded to the presidents of the Exemplar chapters, to be used in connection with the rushing program.

Members elected a nominating committee, which consists of Mrs. Sara Lindsay, Mrs. Arthur, and Mrs. Martha VanHorn. It will report at the March 7 meeting. Election will be held March 21.

Mrs. Anna Kurtz had charge of the cultural program, entitled, "Let's Match Wits." She talked on the principles of debating, then presented a debate on the City Manager Plan, with Mrs. LaVerne Hankin, Mrs. Adam and Miss Patricia Emerick, giving the affirmative side; and Mrs. Virginia Shirliff, Mrs. Dorn and Mrs. Lindsay, the negative.

The next meeting will be held in conjunction with Xi Omicron Chapter. It will be February 21 at the home of Miss Margaret Smith, 323½ Holland Street. Individual chapter meetings are to be held, followed by a program on the Heart Association by Mrs. Martha Smith. Cards will be played, concluding the evening with members contributing to the heart fund.

Homemaker Club Plans Workshop

Plans for a workshop and guests at two meetings were announced at the meeting of the Bedford Road Homemakers Club, which was conducted by Mrs. Theodore Wojcik, Tuesday at Zion Methodist Church.

The workshop will be held the latter part of this month, at 7:30 at the home of the president, 1923 Frederick Street. Hat making will be taught by Mrs. Eleanor Snider of the Mapleside Homemakers Club, and clothing by Mrs. Frederick Roberts of the Bedford Road club.

It was announced that Miss Mary Wise will attend the April meeting, which will be in the form of a covered dish supper, Earl Manges, local attorney, will be guest speaker for the May meeting. His topic will be "Wills and Important Papers."

The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Edith Simon. Roll call was "What new thing would you like to learn during the coming year?" They included ceramics, dressmaking, hat making and making lamp shades. Routine reports were given by Mrs. William Knisley and Mrs. James Stemple.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be March 7 at the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company, where the company demonstrator will conduct a program on cooking. It will begin at 7:30. All members were asked to attend.

Mrs. Wojcik discussed the bird and flower for February, which are those of New York state. She explained that the New York state bird is the bluebird and the flower is rose. She also reported on a training meeting she attended last month. Mrs. Roberts, speaking on "Dollars and Sense," discussed clothing. Mrs. Paul Gifford and Mrs. Roberts reported on the County Council executive meeting, concerning Home Demonstration Week, which they attended at the Court House last week.

For the program, slides were shown by Curtis Gilpin, of his tour of Turkey and the Holy Lands. A social hour followed, with refreshments served by a committee composed of Mrs. Elizabeth Rizer, chairman; Mrs. Stemple, Mrs. Estel Oster, Mrs. George Posselt and Mrs. James K. Moreland Jr. Thirty-four members attended. Guests were Mrs. Helen Askey, Mrs. Albert Cook, Mrs. L. H. Shaffer, Mrs. L. H. Shaffer, Mrs. Anna Moreland, Mrs. Dorothy Barnes and Christine Day.

Firettes Cancel Party, Plan Dance

The Teen-Age Firettes of Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company have canceled a skating party tonight at Moon-Glo roller rink on Bedford Road. Tickets may be obtained from members or at the door.

The Firettes will hold a Valentine dance tomorrow night at the fire hall from 7:30 to 11:30, for members and friends.

The Swanson Memorial Bible Class at Second Baptist Church will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Purinton, 34 Virginia Avenue. Mrs. Virginia Reed is cohostess.

HEART FUND TWINS AT WHITE HOUSE—Mrs. John Kennedy is shown in the diplomatic reception room of the White House with America's "Heart Fund Twins," Donna, left, and Debbie Horst of Erlen, Pa. The twins, who will be seven years old February 26, were guests of the First Lady and participated in a ceremony marking the opening of this year's fund raising campaign of the American Heart Association. The girls underwent heart operations in 1959.

Auxiliary Orders Poppies

The annual poppy sale and a regular Club Chesapeake party were discussed at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the American Legion Post 209, Cresaptown, which was held at the home of Mrs. Annie Walsh Tuesday evening. The district party will be held at Perry Point.

Mrs. Irma Lee conducted the meeting. It was decided to buy 150 poppies to sell for Memorial Day. Mrs. Myrtle Hill is chairman. Reports on the district meeting held at Cecil Randolph Post, Frostburg, were given by Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Edna Hounshell. Plans were formulated to have a group attend the next district meeting, which will be held March 19 at Farrady Unit.

The auxiliary will begin plans for the memorial service at the next meeting, which will be held at Toohy's Restaurant, March 7. Mrs. Grace McKenzie will be hostess. The service will be held at the Cresaptown honor roll at 1:30 p. m. May 28.

Others attending were Mrs. Anna Lee Cecil, Mrs. Hill Mrs. Rose Faulkner, Mrs. McKenzie and Mrs. Rose Kane.

Bride-Elect Honored

Miss Donna Ensminger, fiancée of Joseph F. Vocke, was honor guest of Mrs. Patricia Ruppenkamp at a bridal shower, held at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ralph Lueck, Oldtown Road. The marriage of Miss Ensminger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ensminger, 221 Emily Street, to Mr. Vocke, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Vocke, 210 Bedford Street, will be performed Saturday at 10 a. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Church.

The decorations were in pink and blue and repeated in the sprinkling can and shower streamers suspended above the gifts. A miniature bride topped the cake centering the refreshment table.

Guests were Mrs. Virginia Ensminger, Mrs. Vocke, Mrs. Hilda Funkhouser, Mrs. Elrose Phillips, Mrs. Betty Price, Mrs. Agnes Lueck, Miss Anna Phillips and Miss Ann Lueck.

Discuss Projects

Projects to raise money to complete the new church, and to purchase new pews were discussed at the meeting of the Oliver Grove Woman's Society of Christian Service. Routine reports were given by various committees. Mrs. Thomas Shryock conducted a program on "Recalling Our Heritage and Expanding Our Horizons."

Mrs. Harry Shryock was hostess. Others attending were Mrs. Lionel Davis, Mrs. Jessie Shippe, Mrs. Eugene Carder, Mrs. Ray Twigg, Mrs. Eugene Carder, Mrs. Robin Davis, Kathy Carder, Bonnie and Debra Shoemaker.

BPW Names Delegates, Enters Song Contest

Delegates to the state meeting were named and a contest announced at the special board meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Cumberland, called by Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, Tuesday evening at Central YMCA.

The spring state BPW board meeting is to be held February 25 in Annapolis. Miss Mary Jo Logsdon, Mrs. Northcraft and Mrs. Frederick Leibke were named delegates.

Announcement was made of the International Federation BPW offering of a prize to the club that presents a song, accepted by it, to increase membership. May 15 is the deadline for entries.

Mrs. Ellen McKenzie, membership chairman, was congratulated for obtaining 21 new members this year.

Fund-raising projects were discussed. The proceeds are to be used at the Maryland Federation state convention, which will be held in Baltimore May 4, 5 and 6.

The board presented a gift to Mrs. Leibke, the former Miss Dorothy Manley, a recent bride.

The next meeting will be in the form of a dinner at the YMCA February 21. The international relations committee will present a program with Mrs. Margaret Bittinger chairman and Mrs. Lillian Hast cochairman.

To Continue Quilt Work

The Happy Valley Homemakers Club agreed to continue work on a quilt next month, which is annual birthday month. Members were reminded to bring a gift.

Mrs. Ruth Hite conducted the meeting in the library building on Valley Road. Mrs. Frances McClelland gave a reading and Mrs. James Brotemarkle gave the history of the hymn of the month, and accompanied group singing.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James Keefer and Mrs. James Brotemarkle.

Policy Formed

The Friendship Missionary Society of LaVale Baptist Church approved a policy that only cards and covered dishes would be sent to families of deceased members.

Mrs. Barbara Gifford conducted the business session. Announcement was made of the Week of Home Missions February 24 to March 3; the School of Missions March 26 to 31; participation in the World Day of Prayer service February 17 at 7:30, with Park Place Methodist; and YWA Week February 12 to 18.

A contribution of $115 to the Annie Armstrong mission fund was announced. The WMS budget was accepted. Mrs. Carrie Irbey read the Scripture. Taking part in the program on Indians in the Southwest were Mrs. Elizabeth Vickers, Mrs. Lela Staggs, Mrs. Virginia Bane, Mrs. Emily Byer, Mrs. Olive Coleman and Mrs. Sara Lewis.

4-H Clubs Will Have Displays

The 4-H Clubs will compete again this year in the window display contest for National 4-H Club Week. Miss Mary P. Wise said last evening. The week is to be observed March 4-11. The displays are to show and tell others about 4-H Club work.

Each display will receive a ribbon. A blue ribbon will be awarded for excellent; red for good; and white for fair. From the displays throughout the county, a champion will be selected. This club will receive an award which it can keep for one year. This award is to be passed from one winner to another. If one club receives the award for three consecutive years, it then will become the owner. Baltimore Pike 4-H Girls were last year's winner.

Displays are to be judged on Wednesday and Thursday during National 4-H Club Week. However, displays are to be put up on March 4 and taken down March 11.

Entry cards are to be returned to Miss Wise by February 27.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher, 28 New Hampshire Avenue, are visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Blash, Lake Worth, Fla., and her brother, Dr. E. P. Adams, Miami, Fla.

Clarence Stone, 1117 Bedford Street, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Homemakers Chorus Begin New Minstrel

Work on a new minstrel was begun and three invitations were accepted at a meeting of the Allegany County Homemakers Chorus, which was conducted by Mrs. William Flora, Monday evening in Central YMCA.

The first performance of the "Sunbonnet Minstrel," will be given for the Cresaptown Parent-Teacher Association on April 20.

Three invitations to sing were accepted and it was decided to postpone the out of town engagements until spring. February 13 the chorus will present a program for the LaVale Homemakers Club birthday party and covered dish luncheon, which will be at noon in the LaVale fire hall. It will sing at Central Methodist Church, South George Street, February 26 at 6 p. m. and on March 3 for the Valley Road Homemakers Club anniversary luncheon.

A donation of three books was made to the Maude A. Bean Memorial Book Shelf. One is a book of best poems, another of Christmas Carols and the third on various types of music. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Wendall Strutzman and Mrs. Paul Bradour.

Post 8 Has Award Dinner

Cub Pack, Scout Troop and Explorer Post 8, sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church, held a "Blue and Gold" dinner Tuesday evening in the church hall.

John J. Coyle served as toastmaster for the dinner. Judge Earl W. Cobey was guest speaker. His topic was "Character Building in Scouting." The presentation of the new charters was made by Charles Newman, representing Potomac Council. The opening and closing prayers were led by Rev. James V. Hobbs, council chaplain.

Cub awards were presented by William Brady, cubmaster, to James Minke, Lawrence Roby, Robert Corbin, John Corbin, Michael Brady, Wayne Conway and Kevin Carroll, who were advanced to Wolf; Kenneth Lagratto, advanced to Bear; James Maguire, advanced to Lion.

Explorer and scout awards were made by Thomas E. Mullan, explorer advisor, to William Fahy, second class; John Coyle and Michael Weissenmiller, first class; Robert King, William King and Thomas Mullan, life.

Do FALSE TEETH

Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, goopy, pasty taste or feeling. FASTTEETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTTEETH at any drug counter.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight, is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Area University Women Ask New Study Of Expansion Plan

The legislative and higher education committees of the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women at a special meeting clarified the position of the organization on the move to establish a branch of the University of Maryland at Frostburg.

The meeting was held due to the intensive, widespread and well publicized action being taken by the local officials in support of the plan, officials of the AAUW unit stated.

Mrs. Stanley Buckley, legislative committee chairman, reviewed the proposed action. It was pointed out that a resolution passed in a caucus of AAUW members in November read, "The local branch of AAUW wishes to go on record as approving continuation of local autonomy for state institutions of higher education in Maryland."

Deeply concerned with obtaining the finest educational opportunities possible for Western Maryland youth, the committee members emphasized the need for disseminating accurate information regarding the present curriculum offerings at the Frostburg college. Among the facts presented were these:

1. As stated in the college catalogue, a student can now earn a bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree in a liberal arts program, with pre-professional courses in medicine, dentistry, law, engineering, theology.

2. The yearly cost of such programs, including room, board, books and fees, is approximately $360. Were Frostburg a branch of the University of Maryland the cost of room and board alone would be about $600.

3. Frostburg State Teachers College has at present excellent accreditation, given by Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, National Council for Teacher Accreditation, and Maryland State Board of Education. Any programs offered are accredited until 1964, when the college will request that old programs and new programs be reviewed, this being done at ten-year intervals.

Mrs. Reford Aldridge, president of the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch, stressed the great need for deliberation and further study so that any changes which might occur in our higher educational system would bring definite improvement.

She pointed out that the State Division of AAUW had written to Governor Tawes asking that he continue study of the issue with a new commission of men and women representing state and private colleges and universities, financial experts and lay persons of diverse skills and backgrounds.

Also attending the meeting were Miss Esther Carter, Miss Jane Grindel, Miss Gertrude Williams, Dr. Virginia Mills and Mrs. Robert Hager.

In a letter signed as being from the Frostburg Branch of the AAUW, reads:

"We recognize that every person living in this area of the State of Maryland favors an expanded program of higher education for Western Maryland. However, we would like to call attention to the fact that any expansion of the present facilities will require far more time, money and expert assistance than is evident in the plan supported by the Western Maryland Committee on Higher Education. Simply calling the college here the University of Maryland will not guarantee the students a university education."

"Real expansion can only be the result of carefully planned growth over a period of years. It must include, not only a physical plant, but the selection of a highly qualified personnel to staff it."

"We believe that proper deliberation can best be provided by an independent board governing the university and all four-year state colleges. This board would provide parallel growth in all institutions of higher education, rather than the absorption of the small by the large, and would offer a more far-sighted program for higher education in Western Maryland and throughout the entire state."

Now, to the right of the list, make two additional columns. Head one "My Opinion" and the second, "Others' Opinions." Fill in your estimate of your qualities first, going right down the line. For example, decide whether you are generally tactful. (Whoa there! What was it you said to Mary Jane last Saturday about her new beard? Every slip naturally cuts down your rating!)

Mark yourself excellent, good, fair or poor, and do it honestly! The next column is harder. To fill it, you must strike an average of at least six persons outside your family. Among others, choose your best friend, a working colleague, the last person to whom you were introduced, and your local tradesman. You can determine what each of these persons thinks of you by his or her reactions. How do they welcome you, serve you or consider you? Do they want to please you; seek your company?

Now, balance this last column against your own estimate of yourself. The scoring is up to you. Maybe you marked yourself as tolerant, while the last column reflects a critical attitude towards others about everything from their noisy small fry to their political misinformation. Perhaps the handsome man you met last week showed quite obviously that

by John Robert Powers

What Do Others Think Of You?

Learn how to make your concept of yourself match that of the rest of the world and you are sure to be the gracious woman you want to be.

Take a large sheet of paper. On the left-hand side, write down the following personality traits: Even disposition; self control; cooperation; dependability; consideration; tactfulness; tolerance; criticalness; suspiciousness; ability to meet people easily; ability to talk well; possession of social grace (good at introductions, sports, dancing, musical instruments, etc.)

Now, to the right of the list, make two additional columns. Head one "My Opinion" and the second, "Others' Opinions." Fill in your estimate of your qualities first, going right down the line. For example, decide whether you are generally tactful. (Whoa there! What was it you said to Mary Jane last Saturday about her new beard? Every slip naturally cuts down your rating!)

Mark yourself excellent, good, fair or poor, and do it honestly! The next column is harder. To fill it, you must strike an average of at least six persons outside your family. Among others, choose your best friend, a working colleague, the last person to whom you were introduced, and your local tradesman. You can determine what each of these persons thinks of you by his or her reactions. How do they welcome you, serve you or consider you? Do they want to please you; seek your company?

Now, balance this last column against your own estimate of yourself. The scoring is up to you. Maybe you marked yourself as tolerant, while the last column reflects a critical attitude towards others about everything from their noisy small fry to their political misinformation. Perhaps the handsome man you met last week showed quite obviously that he found you a charming companion—while you marked yourself as one who quaked in her boots for fear of committing some social faux pas.

When you find the discrepancies between your opinion of yourself and that of others, you'll know just how to correct the error of your ways. This is where and how a far better and more enchanting life begins!

HEALTH AND SPARKLING PERSONALITY GO HAND IN HAND—and both add up to teen-age charm. Weather Boosts Sale Of Boots, Snow Shovels

The winter's record-breaking snowfall has resulted in record-breaking sales of snow shovels and rubber footwear.

A downtown hardware store reports it has run out of shovels or four different occasions and has already sold more this winter than the previous five winters combined.

And a "main stem" men's store which specializes in overcoats reports the sale of galoshes the heaviest of any winter in the last ten or more years. The proprietor said he has sold more overcoats so far this season than in the past two years combined.

Stroud is serving his sentence, with no hope of parole. But he's a very old man now, and hasn't long to live, and it would seem after a half century in prison he has paid his debt to society.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—You can't help but be imbued with Sol Siegel's enthusiasm over Doris Day starring in "Jumbo." Sol tells me that Harriet and Irving Ravetch have completed the script—that it's excellent—and that he has named Joe Pasternak as producer. May 15 is the starting date.

"Are you going to use the beautiful Rodgers and Hart music?" I asked him.

Sol said, "At least part of it, but it won't be 100 per cent musical. There's a plot and more of a story than there was as a stage play."

Doris under contract for a certain number of pictures to MGM. She's one of the hottest young actresses in our town at this point, and I'll say it again, she's sure to be nominated for "best performance" in "Midnight Lace."

Right inside the danger zone, Formosa, goes Robert Taylor to make "Formosa," his first movie in two years. Ursula Thiess (Mrs. Taylor), who usually accompanies her husband, won't go along this time because producer Robert Fellows says it's too arduous a location. She will remain here with their two children and her teenage daughter, Manuella, whose youthful marriage has ended in divorce.

Nice to have Bob Taylor making a movie again after being tied up so long with his "Detective" TV series. Roy Rowland, his director, has promised Bob he'll be finished in time to resume work on "The Detective" series in June.

Hard for me to believe that prison officials sent back 300 birthday cards sent to Robert Stroud who is serving a life sentence in a federal prison hospital in Springfield, Mo. Burt Lancaster, who plays Stroud in "Birdman of Alcatraz" sent him some pecan nuts (his favorite) on his birthday, Jan. 28, and they too were returned along with the cards and other gifts. The cards were sent to an orphanage in Iran where the children make novelties out of them to sell.

Bowling Green Firemen Change Meeting Dates

Meeting nights for the Bowling Green Volunteer Firemen's Association have been changed to the first and third Wednesdays of each month instead of every Wednesday, association officials said. It was also announced that during the Lenten season, the association will meet at 8:30 p. m. instead of the usual 7:30 p. m. meeting time.

CUMBERLAND & FROSTBURG ACMES OPEN FRIDAY EVENINGS 'TIL 8

Finan Cites Benefits Of University Plan

Opportunity is indeed knocking on the door for all of the people of Western Maryland in the proposal to establish the University of Maryland at Frostburg State Teachers College campus, Thomas B. Finan, attorney general of Maryland, observed yesterday.

Finan, who is a volunteer member on the Western Maryland Committee on Higher Education, said: "In the lives of communities, just as in the lives of men, there arise opportunities which, if recognized, can lead to a better way of life for those concerned."

"For many years I have felt that the greatest gift this state could make to future generations in Western Maryland would be the establishment of a branch of the University of Maryland at Frostburg State Teachers College. The rapidity with which this possibility has come about through the efforts of many individuals is most gratifying and opportunity is indeed knocking on the door for all of the people of Western Maryland in this proposal to establish the university in Frostburg."

"In my opinion, those who are either knowingly or unwittingly opposing the establishment of the university at Frostburg State Teachers College are doing a large percentage of the coming generation of young men and women to the dead level of mediocrity brought on by limited educational opportunities which will surely be their lot if this plan fails."

"I personally feel that as a matter of conscience this golden chance placed before this community will become a reality. We are indeed most fortunate that this arises at a time when we have a governor who is most sympathetic to this proposal and is willing to do his part to give it the backing of his administration and is only awaiting the firm assurances of the citizens of Western Maryland and their delegates in the State House that this represents the will of the people."

"There is much that can be said in detail about the obvious benefits which the proposed plan has as contrasted with the present situation. I am gratified that these details are being brought to the public through the articles which have been appearing in the Times-News publications."

"I think it suffices to say that the cultural, economic and educational benefits which the establishment of the university at Frostburg would bring to the area in which we live cannot be too highly evaluated and that such action will result in a rich heritage for future generations of graduates from the public and parochial high schools in Western Maryland."

IT'S A COLD, CRUEL WORLD—Who knows what Fadriac, 5-month-old Irish setter, is thinking as he sits in 19½ inches of snow in Howells, small community in upstate New York?

Man Who Punched Stalin Lives To Denounce Reds

GENEVA (UPI)—The man who punched Stalin in the face and lived to tell the tale is rounding out his long life denouncing the brutal terror of the Communist system, whose founders he once plotted with.

At 75, white-haired Khariton Chavichvily is a man who has known conspiracy, revolution and terror.

In a Geneva cafe, just a stone's throw from his present dingy second-floor lodging, he plotted during 1908 with Lenin for the overthrow of Russia's Romanov dynasty and the end of the reign of Nicholas II, czar of all Russia.

In the uncertain years before World War I, Geneva harbored scores of Russian revolutionaries. Such brilliant intriguers as Nikolai, revolution of 1917; Leon Trotsky, and Georgi Plakhanov, who was Russia's foremost Marxist theoretician, gathered at the Cafe Landolt.

Their names are carved on the massive oaken tables around which even today young hotheads and left-wing intellectuals sip their coffee, smoke their pipes and discuss the ills of the world.

"In those days Khrushchev was nothing," said Chavichvily, sitting at one of the tables where he sat with Lenin more than 50 years ago.

Chavichvily, who considers himself the last of the Mensheviks, still is denouncing and protesting. But this time it is not the reaction of the Romanov regime he is against, but the terror of Communism which long ago he, too, wanted to build.

"I am writing my major work: 'The Soviet Union, Georgia, and Human Rights,'" he said.

His conflict with terror goes back to the time he slapped Stalin in the face and got away with it. Chavichvily, who comes from Georgia, as did Stalin, agitated for communism in his youth and took part in the 1905 revolt which gave Imperial Russia the ominous forecast of the bloody revolution that came 12 years later.

In 1905 he argued for three nights running with Stalin, a Bolshevik and Ramishvili, a Menshevik. (The Bolsheviks and the Mensheviks split at the London Communist Congress in 1903 because the Bolsheviks advocated force and the Mensheviks advised peaceful means for installing communism.)

"Stalin, who was then called Koba, roughed up a good friend of mine, so I punched him in the face," Chavichvily said. "Stalin only smiled back at me."

In 1908 Chavichvily joined Lenin

Coal Miners Receive Cut In Pensions

Retired coal miners in the tri-state area have begun to feel the lapse in production of the coal industry as those who receive pension checks were mailed $25 less than usual this month.

Checks mailed several days ago to retired miners were in the amount of $75 instead of the usual $100. John L. Mayo, president of District 16, United Mine Workers of America, said that the decrease in amount was necessitated by a slack in coal tonnage production.

He asserted that the UMW has no direct control over the pension amount and that when the pension was instituted it was stipulated that the amounts would be capable of fluctuation, depending on coal production.

Mayo stated that because of the decrease in production, the amount had to be reduced because the regular amount could not be afforded.

Although he has no definite records of the number of men in this area who were affected, he estimated that about 1,000 retired miners in the tri-state area receive monthly checks.

Mayo also said that when tonnage production increases, the amount most likely will go back to normal.

California leads all other states in turkey production.

Equal Time Rule On The Way Out?

Since the end of the political campaign, most persons had forgotten that the television networks were operating under a moratorium. The "equal time" rule was temporarily suspended as a test.

But the U.S. Senate hasn't forgotten. It is now holding hearings on the question of permanent repeal of the rule, which states that when a candidate is given television or radio time, his opponent or opponents must be given equal time.

This rule, of course, refers to free time given to candidates. During the 1960 campaign it was suspended, and the networks and stations were given a free hand.

The results, as reported to the Senate subcommittee on the activities of broadcasters in the campaign by Frederick W. Ford, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, seem to indicate that no favoritism was shown.

The free time given by the major networks was almost equally divided between Republicans and Democrats, with an hour and 35 minutes to other parties. Some offers of free time were declined. The division of free time by the 430 television stations that reported was also close—1,250 hours to the Republicans, 1,253 to the Democrats.

Ford did not testify for or against the equal time rule, but the figures he presented argue that broadcasters can be trusted to handle campaign free time on an equitable basis.

Unless testimony can be presented that the equal time rule is needed, it should be stricken from the books.

These Days

Imponderables

As I write this, the snow outside my window must be 15 inches or more. I had planned to go to the Metropolitan Opera to hear "Il Trovatore." However, the weather is not such as will bring me outdoors; instead I listen to Verdi's opera on the radio. This is one of a million examples of imponderables that occur in one's life, the sudden, the unusual, the bizarre, the surprising. Had this blizzard occurred last week, my daughter might have had a few days grace to cram for her examinations; had it started a few hours earlier, she would not have flown to Boston.

These imponderables affect everything and everybody. Recently a man threw up his hands in Jove-like disgust when I mentioned imponderables; yet the Christmas blizzard cost his firm several hundred thousand dollars. It is not only snow that comes at the wrong time; a word spoken by a politician out of order, a movie actress appearing in a new style, a rain during a political parade—a thousand and one unplanned, uncalculated little events can and do occur to change the course of events.

Had Napoleon not dined in Warsaw, he might not have had such a frightful time over his conquest of Russia. Had Charles Martel not defeated the Turks at Tours, Western Europe might have been Moslem. Had the Kaiser not helped Lenin to reach Petrograd, Germany today would not be divided in two. Had there been no Dreyfus Trial in France, in 1894, it is quite possible that there might not be an Israel in 1961.

The politician who believes that he can depend upon five year plans or seven year plans is as balmy as Mao Tse-tung who did not expect a famine to bring his economic structure toppling. And yet, droughts, floods and famines have been perennial in China and have upset regimes before this. In fact, Herbert Hoover, when he was Taotai of the Yellow River, in a conversation with Li Hung-chang, prophesied the fall of the Manchu Empire because of the flooding of that river—but that is another matter.

Imponderables play an enormous part in politics. Catholicism defeated one candidate for the Presidency, but elected another. The Ku Klux Klan notwithstanding, the South, which was expected to vote for Nixon, voted for Kennedy. Robert A. Taft, who had devoted his entire life to the Republican Party, emerging as its leader, could not get the nomination for President despite his suitability. It went first to his Republican competitor, Thomas E. Dewey, and then to one who became a Republican for the occasion, Dwight D. Eisenhower. General Douglas MacArthur, who did everything according to the rules, was cashiered by President Truman who became Vice President by accident and was on hand to take the highest office when President Roosevelt died. By all calculations, Henry Wallace should have been nominated as Vice President but Roosevelt said to "Clear it with Sidney," meaning Hillman and Sidney preferred Harry Truman to James Byrnes.

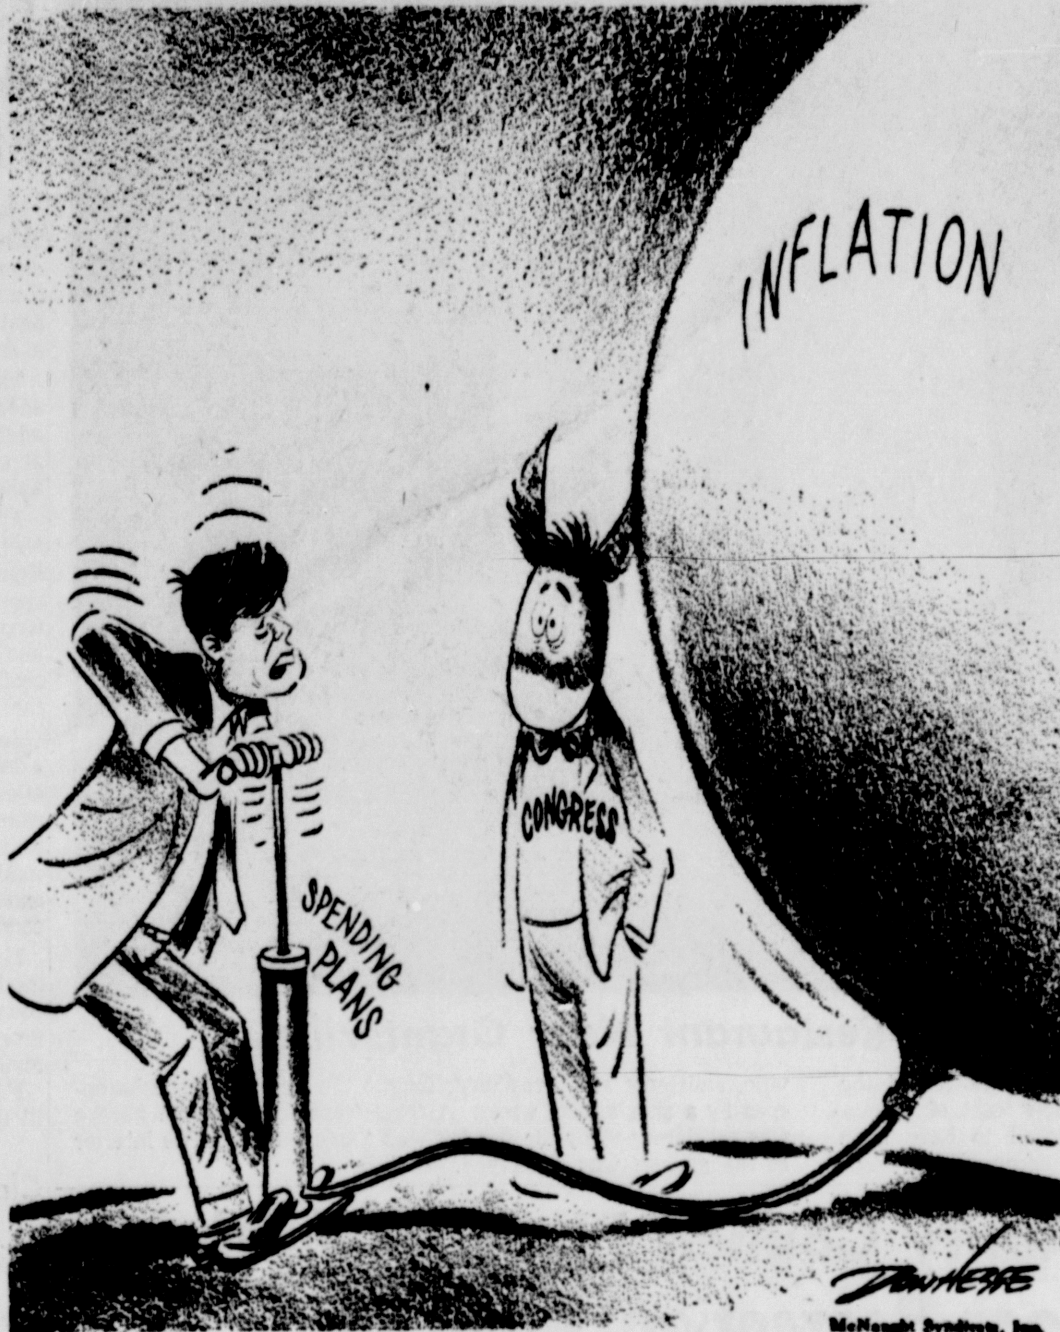

Nobody planned it that way. Surely Harry Truman did not. Nor did Herbert Hoover, a mining engineer, when he worked in Manchuria, or the Urals, or in Australia expect to become President of the United States. He never planned for that.

An imponderable is a state of affairs which comes into existence without known cause, like a sudden plague of locusts. The farmer whose crop is eaten had no expectancy of such a calamity. He did not move a muscle to bring on the locusts! But there they are and his crop is gone and he will vote for another Congressman because this one brought him hard luck.

The imponderables plague politicians and statesmen who suffer endlessly from things that unexpectedly happen to them. For instance, no Democrat, a year ago, would have believed it possible that Mayor Wagner of New York would get into so heavy a quarrel with Carmine De Sapio, the Tammany boss, that the Democrats would be disrupted to the point of danger. This quarrel was unnecessary but it occurred. It could give New York City a Republican Mayor; it could re-elect Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who only a week or two ago looked as though he were moving to oblivion; it could give President Kennedy a tough time in 1964. Whoever started that row was no friend of anybody. It is a political imponderable.

'And Your Job - Keep The Balloon Small'

Political Prospects At Start Of Kennedy Era

By Joseph Alsop

NEW YORK CITY

Though temporarily snow-stranded, New York City is still a good place to investigate Republican prospects at the beginning of the era of John F. Kennedy. Hereabouts, at any rate, the outlook for the Republican party seems far from desperate.

The point is that the Democratic party in this most populous and most crucial state in the Union is not just a basket of eels. It is a panier of vipers. And Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the vigorous Republican chieftain of New York, is plainly preparing to profit to the utmost from the disarray of his opponents.

Two particularly grisly features stand out in the Democratic situation. First, the Democrats have so far failed to develop even the shadow of a moderately saleable candidate to run for the Governorship against Rockefeller. And second, they are in a mess in their main stronghold, here in New York City, which only a trained herpetologist could describe really adequately.

The Tammany boss, Carmine DeSapio, is under attack on all fronts, but defending himself furiously. The Mayor, Robert F. Wagner Jr., has just joined the attack on DeSapio after prolonged hesitation. Wagner's move has almost certainly prevented the Democratic reformers and the Liberal party leaders, Alec Rose and David Dubinsky, from joining a movement to elect a new Mayor on a Fusion ticket. It is hard to imagine a straight Republican victory in the mayoralty race.

Yet if Wagner is successfully re-elected in the end, the New York City vipers will still be rising, hissing, and striking at one another all over the place. Thus both Gov. Rockefeller and his ally, Sen. Jacob Javits, can reasonably count on winning new terms with generous state-wide majorities, sweetened by impressively good showings in New York City.

This is just the kind of result that Gov. Rockefeller needs, of course, in order to achieve a more commanding position at the Republican convention in 1964. But this Rockefeller-Republican story by no means ends at the borders of New York state.

In New Jersey, particularly, Sen. Clifford Case and most of the other Republican members of the state's Congressional delegation have got together to back former Secretary of Labor James Mitchell for the Governorship. And here again there is no obviously saleable Democratic candidate, since Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. has decided not to seek the place now held by the fading Democratic Gov. Robert Meyner.

If the liberal-minded Mitchell is nominated and elected, it will be another gain for the Rockefeller brand of Republicanism. Mitchell is not only close to Rockefeller in viewpoint. He is also on bad terms, since the last Presidential election, with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon; and he is one of the pet targets of the Barry Goldwater-Republicans. The question really is whether Mitchell can win nomination against the Bergen County leader, State Sen. Walter Jones, who has powerful support from the local New Jersey organizations.

SUMMIT MEETING—President John F. Kennedy has now let the allied powers know where he stands on a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. As a result there are visible signs that some world capitals which had been urgently calling for such a meeting are somewhat cooler and more reserved.

The fact is that Kennedy has made it plain to British and French leaders that he will not attend a meeting with Khrushchev in the early future, and further, he won't attend any such meeting unless there are iron-clad guarantees ahead of time that it will be fruitful, not propaganda.

If Kennedy holds to this purpose, he will be the first President since the end of World War II who has not had to learn about the frustrations of summitry the hard way.

President Truman, after the Potsdam meeting with Josef Stalin, knew any further meetings were fruitless. For the remainder of his years in the White House, Harry steadfastly refused to encourage further meetings, taking the position that they must be held in Washington, knowing full well that Stalin would not risk coming that far from his home base.

President Eisenhower, undeterred by Truman's discouraging experience, was lured into two such meetings, one of which created the "spirit of Geneva," which broke down in about three months, and the other which never got under way, in Paris, where it was torpedoed by Khrushchev after Eisenhower had crossed the Atlantic to attend.

If Kennedy maintains his firmness, it could well prove to be a better contribution to peace than any propaganda-inspired negotiations. At least the Russian leaders will become convinced that the United States means what it says, something that has not sufficiently impressed them in recent years.

Waterlogged Body Tissues And Heart Failure

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dollen

A woman of 70 began to gain weight for no apparent reason. Shortly thereafter, she developed palpitation of the heart and noted that her ankles were swollen by evening. Several days later she became short of breath and decided to consult the family physician.

The verdict was heart failure, but she was relieved to know that the organ would be strengthened and put in good working shape within a week with digitalis. This drug slows the heart rate and increases the strength of each beat.

She was told to avoid salt and was given tablets to remove the fluid from her waterlogged tissues. She lost 11 pounds—all water—within the next three days. Palpitation disappeared and her breathing improved considerably.

In this condition, cardiac insufficiency, the organ is too weak to perform efficiently. It also is called congestive heart failure, or dropsy. The old pump rarely fails unless confronted with insurmountable odds. The heart muscle, for example, may have been damaged by coronary thrombosis or strained by the effects of high blood pressure.

Other causes of heart disease include damage to the valves by rheumatic fever and congenital defects. As a rule, the old ticker is able to compensate for disorders of this nature but there is a limit to the abuse it can take. When it begins to fail, the output dwindles and the tissues become congested.

The situation is comparable to a bank balance. Checks can be written so long as there is money in the bank, but the day of reckoning comes when the money all goes out and none comes in. At this point, the bank balance is in a state of failure and money must be added to keep the account going. The same applies to the heart when it fails to work efficiently. The individual must rest and the heart must be helped with drugs to slow it down and strengthen the beat.

Wife Of Chrysler's Board Chairman Owned Stock In Supplier Company

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — In digging into the operations of W. Alton Jones, head of Cities Service and a silent oilman partner in the Eisenhower farm, this column unearthed some other interesting coincidental facts. One of them was that Mr. Jones, while a director of Chrysler and member of its finance committee, controlled Surface Combustion, a company which not only sold equipment to Chrysler but was a serious competitor of Chrysler Airtemp in the air cooling and heating field.

Also interesting was a disclosure that Chrysler's board chairman Lester Lum Colbert had kept discreetly quiet about 444 shares of stock in the Dura Corporation, which also sells to Chrysler, held in the name of Daisy Gorman Colbert, his wife. Mrs. Colbert hastily sold her Dura stock early in 1960 just as her husband, with Alton Jones, was about to purge Chrysler's president William C. Newberg for having a stock interest in the Bonan Company which sells door hinges and trim to Chrysler.

Also interesting was this column's discovery that board chairman Colbert had $200,000 in negotiable U. S. bonds in his office safe. This first came to the attention of Chrysler's office staff in August 1959 when Walter Reuther was considering a strike and Colbert's secretary, Miss Charlotte Weiss, was afraid that because of picketing, the $200,000 in bonds might be left in an empty office.

Colbert's Explanation

In order to get Mr. Colbert's explanation of the $200,000, my associate, Jack Anderson, telephoned him in Detroit. And since we had not been able to reach W. Alton Jones by going through his secretary, Mr. Anderson in this case used Colbert's private phone number. The following conversation took place:

"How did you get my private number?" inquired Colbert, obviously irritated.

"That's a trick of the trade." "If you want to talk to me about publicity," continued Colbert, "I'll transfer you to our public relations department."

"No," replied Anderson. "This is personal and I think it's something you'll want to talk about. We want to know why you kept such a large amount of negotiable government bonds — $200,000 worth — in your office." Mr. Colbert did not answer directly. "They're my life savings," he said, and repeated this several times. "They represent my life savings."

"But why do you keep your life savings in your office instead of a bank?"

"There's no reason for it, except I have a safe here in my office."

Anderson explained that charges had been made that Colbert had taken kickbacks and commissions from some of Chrysler's suppliers, therefore it was necessary to inquire whether the $200,000 petty cash fund had resulted from such reported payments.

"It's no such thing at all," Colbert exploded. "I have never taken any kickback of any kind. And I object to your use of the term petty cash."

Law Firm's Whitewash

Anderson then called attention to Mrs. Colbert's investment in a Chrysler supplier, the Dura Corporation.

"It was only a small amount," Colbert replied. "She bought it out of her own money over a period of two or three years. The total amount was insignificant."

"But her investment didn't square with the statement you made at the stockholders' meeting that there were no other conflicts of interest on the part of Chrysler officials."

"Reread my statement. You will find it accurate in every detail," Colbert replied.

At the April 1960 stockholders meeting, Colbert had stated "No members of my family owns any interest by way of stockholdings or otherwise in any of our vendors or suppliers of materials." This was correct, since Mrs. Colbert had just sold her Dura holdings.

When Chrysler executives appointed their own law firm, Kelley, Drye, Newhall and Maginnes, to investigate conflict-of-interest charges, and when its exoneration report was blessed by Gov. Tom Dewey's law firm, that exoneration stated:

"No Chrysler executive made an investment of more than $7,000 in any such vendor company."

It is now easy to understand how the Dewey and Kelley, Drye law firms used the figure $7,000. It let Mrs. Colbert under the wire, for her investment in the Dura corporation — which the two law firms did not mention — was $6,800.

No Publicity, Please

When Anderson asked who had selected Chrysler's own attorneys, the Kelley, Drye firm, to do the investigating, Colbert replied that it was not his choice, the committee of outside directors had talked him into it.

"You and Alton Jones?"

"No — all the outside directors."

"Isn't Mr. Jones a pretty close friend of yours?"

"I've known him for about 12 years — ever since he came on the Chrysler board."

"I wish you wouldn't go into this," Colbert pleaded. "We don't want any publicity. Leave us alone. I wish you wouldn't cause us any trouble. The Kelley, Drye and the Dewey investigations have gone into everything."

"We didn't start this, you're the one who started all the publicity. But I'll pass your request on to Mr. Pearson."

"We have mutual friends," said Mr. Colbert.

Our Little Wavelet

By John Crosby

In France, there's the Nouvelle Vogue. In England the New Trend, which features improvisation. Here at home we have a little wavelet toward art movies, little shorts of more than the usual degree of sophistication, and what's interesting about the American wavelet is that both the Hip and Square are represented. Not, I hasten to say, together. Each goes his separate way.

Some of you squares out there may have seen a couple of very funny short cartoons in the picture houses called "The Interview" and "The Violinist." "The Interview" is a cartoon about an interview on one of those disk jockey shows with a jazz musician and, man, like I told you, I almost came unscrambled, it's like that funny, man. In the old days they used to say a writer had a good ear when he got the speech patterns down, but to get down the total incoherence and get it right is harder.

"The Interview" and "The Violinist" are written, directed, and produced by Ernie Pintoff, a jazz musician himself, and man, he's with it. I mean he talks the language, man.

How, he was asked, does he feel about doing films that are largely improvised. "I dig it! I dig it!" he says. "I'm a jazz musician and I like improvisation. It frees me. I dig emotionalism. I got Buddy Hackett for this picture—The Shoes—because I identified with him. He played me. If a scene doesn't work we shoot again. The editor is the great creator on this film. He has to take sentences, move them around, extract something and put it at the end. And I saved money. I didn't have to have scripts, didn't have to have a director. Directed it myself."

Pintoff likes to finance his own films his own way, and has the utmost scorn for most film producers in Hollywood who, he says, are concerned with technique, lighting, audio. "My concern is mainly for the drama. I don't worry about that. I only worry whether I'm expressing myself sincerely. My background? I'm a painter and a musician."

"Movies are an art form, not a business. If I thought of it as a business, I'd sell ties. I'd make more money," says Pintoff.

Fadeout. The lights come up on a different man entirely—Duard Slattery who has the voice of a radio announcer and the point of view and grand manner of an account executive (which for ten years at BBDO and McCann-Erickson he was). His firm is called "Little Movies," which is what it does.

"Little movies," he'll tell you in the well nourished tones of Madison Avenue, "came out of a bull session where we (two partners) started decrying the use of words like SuperColossal, Gigantic, and all that, and we decided to take a mild step in the movie business. We think and hope we're giving expression to the creative process."

He added hurriedly that unlike Mr. Pintoff who was not interested in commercial success, he and his partners most definitely were: "We're making little movies because the exhibitors are crying for them. We all wanted to do something notable in this vale of tears. The feature films coming out of Hollywood have been fewer and the slack has been taken up by the foreign market. We felt there was enough talent in New York to put our foot in the door."

One of "Little Movies'" little movies was "Day of the Painter," a spoof on modern art which bears a little resemblance to a bit of Joyce Cary's "The Horse's Mouth." Still, as shorts go it's miles and miles ahead of Lowell Thomas and like that there, man.

Like Pintoff, "Little Movies" depends largely on ad libs. "This feature we've just about finished was originally published as a short story by Bob Davis, who adapted it for screen and also directed it. The script was only a framework; it was mostly ad libbed."

Fadeout and up again on Mr. Pintoff, clear across town. "I'm for improvisation because it's like an unconscious creation. That's what jazz is."

So—we find the Hip and the Squares on both sides of the Atlantic and both sides of Madison Avenue improvising movies. What hath jazz wrought?

Honest Abe Days Planned At Keyser

KEYSER — "Honest Abe Value Days" have been planned for Friday and Saturday, February 10 and February 11, with retail stores open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. both evenings. The event will be held to commemorate Abraham Lincoln's birthday and "local retail merchants are staging a gala extravaganza featuring the most outstanding buys of the season."

William Lavage, president of the retail merchants association, said.

Many merchants will have the "two-for-one" sale in observance of the Lincoln penny. Lavage explained that articles selling at regular prices will be offered at two for the price of one with the addition of one penny.

The city will be decorated with window banners designed in the fashion of Lincoln on the penny and five-dollar bill.

Lavage said this sale also will honor Nancy Hanks, mother of Lincoln, who was born behind the historic Mouth of the Devil's Saddle, also known as Dolls' Gap, located about 12 miles from Keyser.

Keyser merchants have extended an invitation for everyone to visit here during the two-day event.

Fire Sweeps Garage-Restaurant Near Grantsville

Fire damaged the garage operated by Clayton Edwards at the intersection of Routes 219 and 40, three miles east of Grantsville, Tuesday night. The blaze was supposed to have been caused by a furnace exploding. Three fire companies, Grantsville, Salisbury and Frostburg, fought the fire and were hampered by a shortage of water. A restaurant adjoining the garage was not damaged by the fire but was "smoked up." The interior of the garage was destroyed.

Tri-Towns Community Council Plans To Develop Outdoor Recreation Area

Expert On Development To Speak At Dinner March 7

PIEDMONT—John H. Larson of Hagerstown, community planner of the Development Department of the Potomac Edison Company, will speak at the first "Dutch Treat" dinner meeting of the Tri-Towns Community Council. He has had experience in professional planning.

Kenneth Sheetz, principal of Bruce High School, Westernport, will be toastmaster at the affair Tuesday, March 7, at 6:30 p. m., in the recreation hall of the Westernport Church of the Brethren. Civic and fraternal organizations of the Tri-Towns Area will be invited, and may bring their wives or husbands.

The deadline for reservations will be Friday, February 24. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Russell Brown, chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, Mrs. Vincent Laffey and Mrs. Kingsley Skidmore.

Byron Green, chairman of the nominating committee presented a slate of officers at the monthly meeting Monday evening at the Presbyterian Church. The names were unanimously accepted.

They include Mrs. Arthur Hartman, president, Kenneth Sheetz, vice president, both incumbents; Paul Michael, Mrs. Elmer J. Shaver, Mrs. Kenneth Wilson and Byron Green, executive board. Two of this number will be elected to serve for three years. The over members are Raymond C. Hudson, Alton Fortney and Harris LeFevre.

The secretary and treasurer will be selected by the executive board. Mrs. Randall Smith and Mrs. Shaver, respectively, hold these offices now.

The officers will be elected at the dinner.

Alton Fortney gave a report of the picnic grounds committee. A plot of ground owned by Philo Lodge No. 91, IOOF will be equipped for holding outings which is located in the vicinity

Piedmont Again Aims Fluoridation

The Mayor and Council of Piedmont deferred further action and discussion on the fluoridation of the town's water supply, until the next meeting February 20, after a lengthy session Tuesday.

The town council had previously adopted a resolution calling for adding fluoride to the water supply at such times as funds are available.

At last night's meeting, Dr. Neil Williams, John Dennison and Edward Warnick appeared and spoke against the idea. Byron Green also spoke on the proposal and said he believed the question should be resolved by a vote of the people.

James Bisset, street commissioner, made a motion to place the question on the ballots in May, when the townspeople will elect a mayor and council members. His motion for a referendum was seconded by Michael Lannon, another councilman.

Mayor Rodney Baker ruled the motion out of order because the council had already resolved to proceed with the proposal when funds are available.

Further action was deferred until the next meeting.

Class To Meet

FROSTBURG—The Annie Mayers Bible Class will meet today in the educational building of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Miss Margaret Jones will lead in the devotionals. Mrs. Louise Spates and Mrs. William Stewart will serve as co-hostesses.

Pork, Gravy Added To W. Va. Surplus Foods

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia will start receiving its first shipments of canned pork and gravy before the end of the month, the State Department of Public Assistance announced Tuesday.

Dana Smith, who will take over from Hubert Perry as supervisor of commodity distribution, said 10 carloads have been allocated to West Virginia. Smith said the first two carloads will be shipped on the state Feb. 27. The other eight will arrive early in March.

Smith, former acting supervisor, said that since the 10 carloads are not enough for distribution among all of West Virginia's 300,000 needy, they will be stored for distribution starting April 1.

Additional pork is expected by the federal government and that 31 carloads have been ordered for distribution through June.

Smith said distribution started this month of 14 carloads of butter allocated to West Virginia. He said the department has received no word yet on shipments of beans but that allocation of powdered eggs has been confirmed by the federal government and that 31 carloads have been ordered for distribution through June.

Area's Basketball Games Fall Prey To Snowstorm

Sentinels-Valley Tilt Off; Huskies Battle Elk Garden

Area basketball games last night and tonight fell prey to yesterday's near-record snowstorm with a raft of postponements further plaguing coaches and school officials.

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels were slated to tackle Coach John C. Meyers' Black Knights on the Valley High School floor tonight, but the W.M.I. League contest has been called off. Coach Meyers said last evening that no new date has been set for the clash.

Also postponed was Romney High School's Pioneers meeting tonight with John S. Mosby Academy of Virginia on the Hampshire County school court. Coach Roger Parker said the game has been rescheduled for next Wednesday, February 15 at Romney.

A previously postponed game between Romney and the Academy on the Virginians' floor has been reset for Friday, February 24.

Meanwhile, Garrett County school officials indicated last night that conditions did not warrant the closing of schools today, so the Elk Garden and Northern contest still is on tap on the Garrett Countians' court tonight.

Elk Garden High goes after win No. 13 when it meets the Huskies (6-7). The two teams are playing only one game this year and a win would enable the Huskies to move into the .500 class. The Elks are having one of their best years under Paul Kalbaugh and have copped 12 of 15 games.

Northern High's athletic director, Lilburn Brown, said last night that the Huskies have rescheduled a postponed tilt with Bruceton Mills for February 15 on the latter's court.

Other changes brought about by the weather include the postponement of four Potomac Valley Conference games last night.

LaSalle Plays Saturday
LaSalle High's Explorers and Bayard High will attempt to play their contest at Bayard Saturday evening, as will Petersburg's Vikings and the Piedmont High Lions at Piedmont.

Moorefield High's Yellowjackets and Keyser High have reset their game for Saturday, February 18, at Keyser while no new date has been made for the playing of last night's Capon Bridge at Paw Paw affair.

Here in Cumberland the YMCA Sunday School Basketball League felt the brunt of the storm as two games on the Central YMCA court were called off. They were St. Luke's Lutheran vs. First Presbyterian and Centre Street Methodist vs. Potomac Park.

Four Hawkeye Cagers Fail

Varsity Players Dropped By Iowa

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Ninth-ranked Iowa's hopes to overtake undefeated Ohio State in the Big Ten basketball race collapsed Wednesday when four Hawkeye starters became scholastically ineligible.

The only regular available for the remainder of the season is junior Don Nelson, the team's leading scorer with a 22-point average. Sidelined by classroom failures were sophomores Frank Allen and Tom Harris, junior Dave Maer and senior Ron Zagar.

"After a fine start this season, the loss of these men certainly dims any chance of a strong finish in the conference race," said Coach Sharm Scheuerman.

The Hawkeyes have won 12 of 15 games, losing only to St. Louis, Purdue and Cincinnati.

Iowa has a 4-1 conference record — second best in the Big Ten — and was considered the only team with a chance to dethrone top-ranked Ohio State.

The Hawkeyes play at Indiana Saturday, host Wisconsin Monday and then entertain Ohio State Feb. 18.

Houston Accepts NCAA Tourney Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of Houston Wednesday accepted an invitation to compete as an at large representative in the Midwest regionals of the NCAA basketball championships.

Roy (Spec) Keene, Oregon State Athletic director and chairman of the Western Selection Committee, announced the choice through the NCAA Service Bureau. The site and exact dates — March 13, 14 or 15 — of the regionals will be announced later.

Houston is the fourth team to be selected for NCAA play. The others are St. Bonaventure, St. John's, in the East, and Louisville, in the Midwest.

E. Kentucky Upsets Louisville, 80-74

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—Eastern Kentucky upset Louisville's NCAA-bound Cardinals 80-74 in basketball Wednesday night, gaining revenge for an earlier defeat.

The Maroons handed 10th-ranked Louisville its fourth defeat against 17 victories this season. One of the Cards' triumphs was a 10-69 squeaker over Eastern.

Duren, James Sign Contracts With Yankees

Throneberry Agrees To Athletics Pact

By United Press International
Ryne Duren, former relief pitcher star whom manager Ralph Houk hopes to convert into a starting hurler, was one of three pitchers who returned signed 1961 contracts to the New York Yankees Wednesday.

Also coming to terms were right-hander Johnny James, who spent half of 1960 at New York and half at Richmond, and Ted Wieden, who had an 8-7 record for Seattle.

Houk has put the rejuvenation of Duren as one of his first tasks as he replaces Casey Stengel in the Yankee managerial job. Duren has been instructed to report at the Yankees' advance training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., next week, several days ahead of other veteran pitchers.

Duren, who will be 32 on Feb. 22, was the Yankees' ace reliever in 1958 and 1959 when his blazing fast ball intimidated American League batsmen. Last year, however, he had only a 3-4 record and his earned run average soared to 4.96.

James, who was voted the outstanding rookie in the Yankees' spring training camp last year, and Wieden also will attend the advance camp. James had a 5-1 record with the Yankees and 3-2 at Richmond.

The Kansas City A's signed first baseman Marv Throneberry and pitcher Dave Wickersham, making a total of 26 who have agreed to terms with the club. Throneberry batted 247 last season and Wickersham had a 10-7 record with Shreveport.

Pitcher Art Mahaffey, who compiled a 7-3 record with the Philadelphia Phillies, signed with them and received a raise while becoming the club's 27th signer.

The Cincinnati Reds announced the signing of Gene Freese and rookie Mel Queen, while the new Washington Senators corralled infielder Chester Boak, one of the players they drafted for $75,000.

Catcher Cuno Barragan agreed to terms with the Chicago Cubs leaving pitcher Seth Morehead the only unsigned player on the club.

The Los Angeles Angels signed outfielder Bob Rous and assigned him to Dallas-Fort Worth of the American Association.

Zack Taylor Joins Milwaukee System

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Zack Taylor, longtime major league catcher and one of those who struggled to manage the old St. Louis Browns during their declining years, has been appointed a coach in the Milwaukee Braves' farm organization.

Taylor, whose appointment was announced Wednesday by Public Relations Director Don Davidson, will work in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina.

Taylor had a 16-year career as a major league player, performing with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves, New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and New York Yankees between 1920 and 1935.

WVU's Patrone To Miss NYU Game Tonight

Guard Hampered By Ankle Injury

NEW YORK (UPI)—West Virginia's basketball team probably will be without the services of veteran guard Lee Patrone when it meets New York University Thursday night.

Mountaineer Coach George King said Patrone is still hampered by an ankle injury received in last Saturday's game with North Carolina State at Charleston.

"Lee hasn't been able to run on that ankle," King said. "I don't know whether he'll be able to play and if he does it's very doubtful he'll be at full strength."

The WVU-NYU game will start at 9:20 p.m., the second game of a double header. Dayton and Seton Hall meet in the opener at Madison Square Garden.

King said he may start senior Nick Viscic in place of the injured Patrone. Viscic sparked the Mountaineers in the comeback 86-78 win over N. C. State Saturday, scoring 10 points in the last 11 minutes and spearheading the rugged West Virginia full court press defense.

Following the NYU game, the Mountaineers travel to Richmond, Va., for a southern conference game with University of Richmond Saturday.

NYU, with a 7-7 record so far, defeated WVU 82-81 in an overtime game last year in the Eastern Regionals of the NCAA tournament.

Player Leading Money Winner
DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Gary Player of South Africa, winner of the Lucky International Open two weeks ago, continued to lead all golfers in 1961 earnings Wednesday with a total of $13,400.

Bob Rosburg ($9,400), Bob Goalby ($9,000) and Arnold Palmer ($8,500), each of whom has won one tournament this year, were second, third and fourth, respectively, in the earnings list.

However, a professional without a victory in 1961 has cashed the biggest check yet. Don January of Dallas received $50,000 for scoring a hole-in-one during the recent Palm Springs Classic. Since this money was paid from an insurance policy (Lloyd's of London), it is not counted in the Professional Golfers' Association list of earnings.

Halberg Is Winner
WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI)—Murray Halberg, New Zealand's 10,000 meter Olympic champion, defeated Daryl Burle-son of the University of Oregon Wednesday night in a one mile run in the time of 4 minutes, 4.4 seconds.

Potomac State And Frostburg Clash Tonight

Potomac State College will be shooting for its 12th victory of the basketball season today when it meets Frostburg State Teachers College in the final game of their season series in Keyser at 8 p.m.

Frostburg has not beaten the Catamounts since 1958 when they swept the series, 91-52 and 77-64. Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's teams have won the last five games, including this season's opener, 71-58.

Potomac's record to date is 11-7. The Bobcats have lost their last three games and are 5-10 for the campaign.

The Catamounts play at Shepherd College Saturday night.

SS. Peter & Paul And St. Michael's Battle For Lead

A battle for first place is in store for Catholic Youth Basketball League fans tonight when St. Michael's, of Frostburg, and SS. Peter & Paul come to grips in the first game of a tripleheader at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium at 6:15 o'clock.

These teams split even in the first half championship race and wound up tied for first place with 8-2 records. No date has been set for the playoff. They are now tied for the lead in the second half race with 2-0 records and the winner of tonight's game remains on top.

St. Michael's won the first game on its home court, 26-21 but dropped the return contest here, 35-29.

St. Mary's Gaels play St. Peter's, of Westernport, at 7:30 p.m. and St. Patrick's of Cumberland meets St. Patrick's of Mt. Savage at 8:45.

Clash Is Postponed
The important CVAL and Washington County Class AA meeting between South Hagerstown's Rebels and North Hagerstown's Hubs last night on South High's court was postponed until a later date because of the heavy snowfall.

The Rebels have won five in a row since losing to Martinsburg and can earn the right to represent the county in the district Class AA tournament with a win over the Hubs.

Circleville Loses 14th Tilt To Harman High Cagers, 65-64

Circleville High's Indians, nearing the close of a disastrous season, dropped their 14th decision in 16 games last night, bowing 65-64 to Harman High's cagers at Circleville.

The Indians outscored Harman from the field but lost the game at the foul line as the winners converted 17-30 free chances. The Circleville team led most of the game, but lost out to Harman's fourth-quarter rally.

Lambert was high scorer for Harman with 27 points. Orville Harper had 26 for the Indians who play Mountaineer High of Thomas tonight at Circleville. The line-ups:

Bowie Delays Race Meeting Until Saturday

Track Has Run Only Seven Days

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Bowie Race Course decided Wednesday to wait until Saturday before making another try at defrosting its snow-bound winter meeting.

The Southern Maryland track has managed to get in just seven days of racing since opening its scheduled 48-day battle with the elements 2½ weeks ago.

One of these dates represented a makeup of one of the nine race programs erased so far by snow and ice which has belted the area in a series of storms since mid-January.

The latest cancellations came Wednesday in the wake of a new snow storm which added a two-inch coating on the Bowie plant and ice approach roads to the track.

Track officials consulted with the Maryland Racing Commission and jointly decided to cancel the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday programs.

At the same time, the track advised it would schedule races Monday through Saturdays — weather permitting — for the rest of the season to make up for lost dates.

Bowie also applied to the commission for authority to draw a program for March 30, the day after the regular season was supposed to end — and the day before the spring meeting at Laurel is to get under way.

Olden Times Wins $61,850 Breeders Stakes

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Olden Times stood off a strong challenge in the stretch from Blutter by Wednesday and won the $61,850 California Breeders Champion Stakes at Santa Anita Park.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker put the Rex C. Ellsworth colt into a hard drive to beat out Albion's Ranches' Flutterby with Ronnie's Ace third. Five colts went to the post in the 1-16 mile feature restricted to California-bred 3-year-olds.

The time was a good 1:42 1/5. The victory was the first for Olden Times after losing by a head and a neck at 7 furlongs to a Kentucky colt, Captain Fair. He now looms as a strong threat in the Santa Anita Derby March 4.

Olden Times returned $5, $2.80 and $2.20, as the second betting choice, with the crowd of 20,800. Flutterby paid $2.60 and $2.20; and Ronnie's Ace paid $2.20. Each colt carried 118 pounds.

$30,000 Phoenix Open Starts Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Most of professional golf's finest craftsmen, including all but one of the 1961 tourney winners, will set out Thursday in quest of the biggest jackpot ever offered by the Phoenix Open.

Billy Maxwell, who pocketed first money at Palm Springs last weekend, is the only champion from the five-meet swing through California not on hand for the four-day scramble for $30,000.

Skaters Bow Out

The national champion skaters from Erie, Pa., who were scheduled to appear at the Moon Gl skating rink, Bedford Road, Saturday in connection with the Heart Fund drive, will not be able to make the trip. Officials said the skaters will be in Cumberland at a later date.

the GREATEST! by Walter Johns

THE PARADE of the greats in bowling from days of Jimmy Smith to Don Carter is a long one, but for its most colorful performer of all time, and perhaps the GREATEST, you'd have to stand up and cheer Andy Varipapa.

Still an outstanding performer in television matches and the GREATEST of all the trick-shot artists, Andy Varipapa, now 68 years old, is the grand old man of the game and known the world over.

A fine teacher of the game, Varipapa has written a series of bowling instruction and his exhibitions throughout the nation has made him one of the most beloved of all characters in sports.

He has records, too, amazing ones, although he failed to excel as a champion in the American Bowling Congress tourneys.

Voted into the Bowlers' Hall of Fame in 1957, Andy has won all sorts of tourneys, match game affairs, ruled as the U. S. match game titleholder in 1946, and has made Mort Luby's All-American team.

From West Hempstead, Long Island, Andy claims more than 50 perfect games and has some spectacular records which could match any turned in by the other great stars of the game.

WAY BACK in 1932 Andy averaged 253 for a 30-game match! Two years later he averaged 256 in a nine-game match! And later he averaged 260 over a seven-game stretch in which he rolled 279 three times in a row!

In Memoriam

WILKINSON — A tribute of love to my dear husband and my beloved father, Armond B., who passed away 10 years ago today, February 9, 1951.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance, just a memory said and true, just the love and sweet devotion, of the ones who think of you.
Loving Wife, Hazel
& Daughters

Six Children

(Continued from Page 18) left them about midnight Tuesday to catch a bus for Baltimore to visit a seventh child who is hospitalized there with a kidney ailment. She had asked a neighbor to keep an eye on them.

Their father, who no longer lives with them, was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction in the fall of 1959 for non-support of the children. The mother and children have been welfare recipients ever since.

One to five minutes to get a dial tone.

One of the worst spots downtown was the intersection of Baltimore and Mechanic streets, where merging traffic pushed snow into a huge drift.

Officer Harold Gibson had the answer for that. He asked the operator of a passing front-end loader owned by a local construction firm to take up a few scoops. The operator obliged.

16.9 Inches

(Continued from Page 18) tractor-trailer drivers to keep off U.S. Route 50 and Route 28. Chains were recommended for all vehicles, and some secondary roads were reported closed.

17 Inches In Bedford

In Bedford County, Pa., State Police reported a snowfall of 17 inches. Roads in that area were said to be hazardous and police were advising all drivers to use chains. Many of the secondary roads in Bedford County were reported to be closed.

Many of the industries in the area let office workers go home early yesterday afternoon, but normal operations will be carried out at most of the plants today.

However, at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company operations have been suspended until this afternoon when the 3-11 p.m. shift reports for work.

Pittsburgh Plate, Celanese and Allegheny Ballistics all report normal operations for today.

Many downtown stores closed about 2:30 p.m. yesterday and the business section was just about deserted by all pedestrians and traffic late last night.

One of the local theatres shut down early, and several bars even closed their doors to business early in the evening.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND INVITATION FOR BIDS FOR WORK TO BE DONE AND MATERIAL TO BE FURNISHED, AND THE INSTALLATION OF ELECTRIC LIGHTING EQUIPMENT IN THE CASE WORKERS' OFFICES IN THE ALLEGANY COUNTY WELFARE BOARD BUILDING AT 301 CUMBERLAND STREET, CUMBERLAND, ALLEGANY COUNTY, MARYLAND.

Sealed bids will be received by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, until the 21st day of February, 1961, at 10:30 a. m. E.S.T., by its Clerk, the undersigned, whose address is the Court House, Cumberland, Maryland, for work to be done and materials to be used in the installation of electric lights in the Case Workers' Offices 29 and 30, in the Allegany County Welfare Board Building, 301 Cumberland Street, Cumberland, Maryland, in accordance with certain General Specifications, dated January 9, 1961, prepared under the direction of the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland.

The specifications will be available on and after the 7th day of February, 1961, at the office of the undersigned Clerk, in the Court House, Cumberland, Maryland, for whom requests for additional information should be made.

Bids must be accompanied by a certified check for $100.00 payable to the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland, or a bid bond in said amount, said bond to be with a bonding company licensed to do business in the State of Maryland, and to be approved by the County Commissioners of Allegany County, Maryland. The certified check or the successful bidder will be returned to the successful bidder upon execution of the contract; other checks will be returned to the unsuccessful bidders on awarding of the contract.

Bids must be submitted in sealed envelopes marked "BID FOR ELECTRIC LIGHTING IN THE ALLEGANY COUNTY WELFARE BOARD OFFICES" on the outside of the envelope. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond in the total amount of the contract price, and a labor and materials bond in one-half of the amount of the contract price. Evidence of Workmen's Compensation and Public Liability Insurance must be furnished, and the Contractor must comply with all Federal, State and local regulations.

Labor rates must be figured at prevailing hourly wage rates in the vicinity at the date of the contract and the Contractor, in addition, must comply with the provisions of Section 80 (b) (1) of the Code of Public Local Laws of Allegany County (Everette's 1955 Edition). The County Commissioners of Allegany County hereby reserve the right to reject any or all bids or to accept any.

It Just Keeps Piling Up

Williams Street was fairly typical of residential streets yesterday as 16.9 inches of snow fell on Cumberland in less than 17 hours. Many householders, weary of shoveling walks and lacking any place to put the new snow, merely plowed a path along the sidewalk and let one-lane pedestrian traffic prevail. Cars can be seen snowed in up to the windows, and the small "umbrella" tree in center is nearly covered. It was the worst snowstorm of the season.

Culver Pleads For Action On Insurance Bill

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A delegate pleaded in vain Wednesday for an immediate House vote on a bill he said was subjecting him and his family to harassment and embarrassment in the press.

"I have taken an unmerciful beating in the press which I don't think I deserve," said Del. Charles S. Culver, D-Balto County.

"I feel the only way to end it is to bring the bill to the floor as it is," he said.

"In my mind, to continue to hold it and let the press have a field day subjecting me to harassment is unfair."

Del. Edward J. McNeal, D-Balto 3rd, chairman of the banking committee, had refused to report to the House a bill that would have an adverse impact on an insurance company of which Culver is president.

The committee voted 11-7 against the bill Tuesday.

Motion Fails

Del. John Nowakowski, D-Balto 1st, made a motion under a House rule by which a majority can force a bill out of committee. It failed 59-26.

McNeal told the House he intended to report the bill tomorrow, but did not say when or give any reason for his holding action.

"I do not feel remiss in my duty in not doing it immediately," he said.

After the session, McNeal met with the three Baltimore County delegates concerned with the bill and agreed to bring it out whenever they requested it.

The bill sponsored by Del. Joseph D. Tydings would prevent a company from insuring one account for more than 10 per cent of its assets.

The company headed by Culver, and of which two other Baltimore County delegates are directors, has assets of $1 million. Its maximum single risk would be $100,000 under the bill.

Conflict Of Interest

The company, a little more than a year old, is insuring $38 million of deposits in 30 mutual stock or savings and loan associations.

"This bill is of vital concern to me," Culver said. "Actually, it is a conflict of interest."

He said he had asked McNeal to put off a hearing on it until Feb. 21 "to give us time to prepare opposition." But he said there was too much pressure on him to get the bill going.

The hearing was held last Thursday. Culver informed the House he was the first to agree before Tuesday's vote that the bill be brought out of committee even if it received an unfavorable report.

In many instances, committees do not report bills unfavorably.

There was a widespread talk around the State House that Gov. Tawes was taking an interest in having the insurance bill passed, but was acting discreetly because fellow Democrats were officers and directors of the company.

Del. A. Gordon Boone, D-Balto County, the administration's floor leader, and Michael J. Birmingham, the national Democratic committeeman from Maryland, are among the directors.

Other Bills

While it marked time on the insurance bill, the House moved up for passage others that ask the voters to double the salaries of legislators to $3,600 and provide for increasing the State treasurer's salary.

The State treasurer, who is

Foresters Convene

District Forester R. Thomas Thayer Jr. will head a delegation of eight foresters from his four-county district at the meeting of the Allegheny Section of the Society of American Foresters Friday and Saturday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore.

This section includes Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey.

Others from this district will include Paul Mateer, Arthur Morrell and Clinton Irwin, all assistant district foresters in Garrett County; Harry Hartman, assistant district forester in Allegany County; Tunis Lyons, assistant district forester in Washington County, and Joe Mechem, of Berkeley Springs, W. Va., the new assistant district forester in Frederick County.

Ralph Peace of Cumberland, district park supervisor will speak at the meeting. His topic will be "The Role of State and Federal Governments in Forest Recreation."

Individuality (Continued from Page 18) isbury depends upon "the vigor with which the administrative personnel of the institution makes known the work of the college and makes attendance challenging to high school graduates."

The fact that the University of Maryland would not treat all of the proposed centers of the University exactly alike is reflected in one of the Kuhn report recommendations concerning Towson State Teachers College, quoted below:

"With Towson located in the center of a large business and industrial area, and with the total projected enrollment of 5,500 students within a 10-year period, it is proposed that a college of Business and Public Administration be added to the College of Education and the College of Arts and Sciences so that the students may complete their entire four-year program should they choose to become prepared in the various programs that are important in business and public administration."

A similar college was not recommended at Frostburg or Salisbury.

GOP To Complete Plans For Dinner

The Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in GOP Headquarters, 1 North Liberty Street, according to J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman.

Final plans will be made at the meeting for the National Chairman's Dinners to be held February 16 in St. Luke's Lutheran Church, he said.

Senator Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican National Committee, will be the principal speaker and guest of honor.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend who is intelligent about most things has a weakness for fortunetellers. Last Wednesday she told me that Friday was destined to be her unlucky day, according to the fortuneteller, and she was going to stay home and avoid all danger. She cancelled a long-standing bridge luncheon date and I had to invite someone on short notice.

Saturday morning this friend phoned from the hospital. When she was getting out of the bathtub Friday night she slipped and broke her arm.

In your opinion does this prove that the fortuneteller was right or wrong? — RUBY

My husband built the business into a successful enterprise. The widow remarried (a jerk) who has a fair job, but nothing to crow about. He's forever poking his nose into the business saying he wants to "protect his wife's interest." My husband has told him repeatedly that she doesn't need any protection but he doesn't take the hint.

The widow has drawn over $100,000 out of the business and my husband has done all the sweating. Do you think this is fair? He's getting ulcers from the jerk besides. Please tell us if there is anything we can do to break up this partnership. — GRIPED

Snowfall Heaviest In 37 Years

16.9 Inches Piles Up In 17 Hours

Transportation, Business, Schools Are Paralyzed

The heaviest snowfall to hit Cumberland in 37 years yesterday dumped 16.9 inches here and virtually brought everyone and everything to a complete standstill.

Yesterday's storm began about 12:30 a. m. and finally stopped at 5:30 p. m. About an inch of snow fell each hour yesterday and made it difficult for snow removal crews to keep up with the storm.

The heavy snow just about paralyzed the city and county as schools, businesses and some industries shut down early in the day.

Traffic throughout the area also was at a snail's pace and many minor tie-ups were reported on city streets and in the county despite hard-working street and road crews who battled the storm.

Main Roads Open

The State Roads Commission said last night all main roads were open to traffic, but chains were recommended for travel. The SRC said 24 pieces of equipment and 45 men worked throughout the day and would continue to work until midnight in an effort to put the highways in the best possible shape.

The County Roads Department said all county roads were in pretty good shape, but still advised motorists to use chains.

The county department reported it had six graders and 25 trucks out all day and most of the evening. Workers were sent home for a rest, and full-scale operations were to resume at 11 p. m. last night. Crews were to continue to work through the night on county roads.

Finance Commissioner Mrs. Lucile Roeder, who was serving as acting Mayor, reported at 5 p. m. that Street Department crews were concentrating on keeping routes to the hospitals open.

Emergency Bus Service

She said bus routes were cleared by early afternoon and that the Queen City bus line arranged to run buses shortly before 5 p. m. so all persons stranded downtown could get home.

She said two graders and two plow-equipped trucks loaded with cinders were working to keep main arteries open on the 3-11 p. m. shift.

A similar crew reported for main route duty at 11 p. m. and another crew reported to Baltimore Street to begin removing snow from streets in the business area.

City police sent cruisers to West Second Street yesterday at 3:30 p. m. after snow falling from the roof of a home took a utility line with it.

Cars parked on both sides of many main arteries plagued Street Department crews and left one-lane traffic in many areas.

Most of the parked cars are marooned until the weather breaks, since drivers will not only have to dig them out of the snow but remove the packed snow and ice which builds up as graders push snow to the sides of the street.

City officials have taken under advisement a proposal by Mayor J. Edwin Keech that parking be restricted to one side of the street so plows could push snow to the opposite side, away from parked vehicles.

Some portions of Garrett County were not as hard-hit as Cumberland, with Oakland reporting only 10 inches of new snow. However, in the Accident section up to 15 inches of snow was reported.

The SRC also reported that most of the roads in Garrett County were passable with chains.

State Police at LaVale said last night traffic was at a minimum and motorists were urged to use chains if travel is necessary.

The LaVale barracks also reported it was snowing hard late last night in the Oakland section.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said places in their section reported up to 22 inches of snow yesterday.

Traffic in that area also was reported at a near standstill and State Police were requesting

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

The Silent City

A lone motor vehicle and the policeman on the beat are the only signs of life on Cumberland's main stem, Baltimore Street, as the streetlights came on at dusk. This time exposure, taken from the Mechanic Street intersection at a time when the street normally is full of traffic, looks toward McKaig's Hill at the east end of the street. Snow removal crews were able to keep the snow from piling very deeply on downtown streets, but there were deep ruts and big bumps at intersections.

Ft. Ashby Pupils Are Stranded For Five Hours

Delivered Safely To Homes By Jeep

Five students of Fort Ashby School were delivered home safe and sound late yesterday evening after being stranded at the school for nearly five hours because of the heavy snow storm.

William Marker, principal of the combined grade and high school, began dismissing pupils at 11 a. m. and all but five of the students were able to get through to their homes.

Mr. Marker finally managed to get a jeep late yesterday afternoon and delivered the two high school students and three elementary pupils to their homes about 5 p. m.

The stranded students all reside in the Dennison Hollow section and a snow plow was unable to get in to plow the narrow Mineral County road.

Mr. Marker said cooks at the school had started to prepare the noon meal, but the students were dismissed before the meal was served and the five stranded youths had to go without lunch.

Mrs. Beverly Troutman, president of the school PTA, had made arrangements to place the five students in private homes for the night in the event they were not able to get home.

One of the school bus drivers remained at the school with stranded students, while Mr. Marker tried to make arrangements to get them home.

Mr. Marker said the school has an enrollment of 432 students, and only about 60 youths were absent at the start of classes yesterday morning.

The homes of the stranded students do not have telephone service and members of the school faculty and PTA were concerned that the parents would become worried when their children were late getting home.

St. Fidelis Tests Planned

A number of district boys will take an entrance examination for St. Fidelis Seminary, Capuchin Fathers, Herman, Pa., Saturday at 10:30 a. m. in SS. Peter and Paul School, Fayette Street.

Boys of the eighth grade and above who are interested in preparing for the priesthood with the Capuchin Franciscan Order next September are eligible to take the examination.

St. Fidelis Seminary, now in its 84th year, is educating a number of Maryland youths.

No advance registration for the examination is necessary.

The test will be conducted by Rev. James Hannan, O.F.M. Cap., vocational director of the seminary.

Deaths

Cleaver, Richard P. Moorefield, Gardner, Robert C., Ellerslie, Law, Mrs. Laura Jane, 90, Wellersburg.

Oyerly, Pratt W., 69, Keyser.

Winter-Wise City Takes Big Snowstorm In Stride

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

Residents of this Western Maryland industrial center generally took the worst snowstorm of the season in their stride yesterday.

It's no wonder, since Cumberlanders have had a lot of experience in digging out of heavy snows since

Many Injured In Falls And Other Accidents

Several persons were admitted to local hospitals yesterday after being injured as a result of the heaviest snowfall to hit the area this year.

Most seriously injured of the group was a 15-year-old LaVale newspaper carrier who was struck by a car yesterday morning on U.S. Route 40 near Narrows Park.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital was Gerald Jaehn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Jaehn, of 13 Buchanan Avenue. He was reported still in "serious" condition last night.

Hospital attendants said the youth sustained a fractured left leg, head injuries and was in a state of shock when admitted to the hospital.

Trooper George R. Robinett said the youth was struck by a vehicle operated by David E. Miller, 30 Barton. Trooper Robinett said the driver tried to avoid hitting the boy, but apparently the youth did not see the oncoming car.

Several other persons also were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday evening after being injured in falls.

Miss Louise Amick, 33, of 987 McMullen Highway, sustained a fractured left wrist when she fell while walking her dog.

Mrs. Bessie Hotchkiss, 60, of Main Street, Ridgeley, fractured her right wrist when she fell while shoveling a sidewalk. She was treated and released.

Also admitted to Sacred Heart was Mrs. Emma Furlow, 620 Bedford Street, who suffered a fractured left wrist when she fell at home.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital after being injured in a fall was Miss Electra G. Womack, 1027 Penhurst Street, who sustained a fractured left hip.

Miss Womack, who is educational director at Memorial Hospital, fell while she was on her way home from work.

Dispensaries at both hospitals last night reported a normal number of patients being treated despite the deep snow.

Six Children Rescued From Fireless House

Deputies Finish Errand Of Mercy

Six children, ranging in age between three and 14, who had been left alone in their Murley's Branch Road home with little fire wood and little food, were brought to the County Infirmary last night by four deputies of Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein at the end of a three-hour errand of mercy.

County authorities got word of the plight of the children from George A. Clingerman, who runs a sawmill along Town Creek Road about one-half mile south of U. S. Route 40 just east of Flintstone.

The oldest of the children had called him to ask if he could send some firewood as they had run out of it and had no heat.

Mr. Clingerman, who lacked transportation for the mile-and-one-half trip to the children's home, tried to contact a neighbor to make the trip. When he was unsuccessful he called the Court House, and the information eventually reached Sheriff Haberlein.

Deciding that the delivery of wood would only relieve the children's plight temporarily, Sheriff Haberlein dispatched four of his deputies, Edgar M. Lewis, George B. Staupp, George Harris and Lewis E. Tyree, in two official cars to get the children and take them to the Infirmary until the return of their mother from Baltimore.

The deputies left the County Jail at 3 p. m. and completed the return trip about 6 p. m. Ordinarily, such a trip would take no more than an hour but the heaviest snowfall in years made the task most difficult.

The mother of the children had

Most of the storms which have plagued the Tri-State area this winter were followed by high winds and bitter cold which turned packed snow into ice.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, city finance commissioner, was acting mayor yesterday. She stood up to the responsibility just fine.

It is no wonder, for Mrs. Roeder is an old hand at battling ice and snow. She served as street commissioner between 1950 and 1954 — years she recalls were marked by "rough weather."

"All main routes in the city are open and Street Department crews will clean snow from the downtown area overnight," she reported.

In mid-afternoon, a waitress from a Baltimore Street restaurant got tired of waiting for customers and began to build a snow man in a nearby parking lot.

True to tradition, the mails went through.

Carriers in most sections reported to storage boxes about 10 a. m. and waited an hour for trucks to deliver mail sacks.

On the West Side, veteran mail carrier James W. Kismore waited for a while in the blinding snowstorm for the truck to arrive. Then he pushed snow away from the storage box at the intersection of Cumberland and Chase

Optimist Gets Building Permit

An optimist came to the Court House yesterday in the midst of the heaviest snowfall in years and obtained a permit to build a $12,000 dwelling in Election District 29 at LaVale.

The permit was issued to the Garner Construction Company, P. O. Box 1211. The brick dwelling will be 26 by 40 feet in size, if it ever stops snowing and construction can start. This was only the second permit issued in February and the 11th since January 1.

College Expansion - 7 Individuality Would Be Retained At Frostburg

This is the seventh in a series of factual articles about the proposed unification of Frostburg State Teachers College and the University of Maryland. Today's article deals with the broad question of individuality on the Frostburg campus.

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Frostburg State Teachers College, as a Western Maryland center of the University of Maryland, would still retain its individuality and would not simply become a small scale carbon copy of the institution at College Park.

That point was given emphasis in the report of the committee headed by Dr. Albin O. Kuhn, executive vice president of the University of Maryland. The final sentence of the introductory portion of the report emphasized that the general pattern of expansion of the teachers colleges as centers of the University of Maryland "does project institutions with individuality, each capable of assuming a major role in higher education in the State of Maryland."

The organizational pattern that the Kuhn report of last August provides for the initiative of the administration and faculty at each center of the University system. The plan would call for the consideration of important academic problems and other aspects of faculty and student life locally.

Administrative Setup

Recommendations from these organizations would be brought to the president of the University center and in turn would be transmitted for consideration by the governing board. The governing board would designate an executive officer who would be charged with responsibility of coordination of the administrative work at all centers and the responsibility of recommending changes in policy and procedure to the board.

The letter from the faculty and administration of Frostburg State Teachers College to the editor of this newspaper opposing the proposed center left the impression that the college now enjoys an independence which will be lacking as a center of the University.

The letter read in part as follows:

"... The point is that the number of instructors employed is dependent upon the demands of students for certain subjects and this varies from college to college in our nation. The total number of instructors for a given department cannot be determined by remote control. Only when a college has local independence over such decisions can it really progress and offer high quality instruction and programs designed to meet the specific needs and requests of the students of Western Maryland."

Under the present system, the college is controlled by the State Board of Education and Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, whose office is in Baltimore.

As a center of the University, it would be controlled by the Board of Regents of the University of Maryland and its president, Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, whose office is at College Park.

Members of both the State Board of Education and the Board of Regents are appointed for long terms by the Governor and serve without compensation except for expenses involved in attending regular meetings of the boards.

As a center of the University, the institution at Frostburg would still have its own president. Instead of the one dean it now has, the college would have a dean of arts and sciences as well as a dean of education.

Local control of the center is cited in another section of the Kuhn report. It stresses that the actual enrollment at Frostburg and the other proposed centers of the University at Towson and Salisbury

Most Schools Will Remain Closed Today

Special Conference Also Postponed

All public schools in Allegany County and nearby Mineral County, W. Va., will be closed today along with all of the parochial schools in Cumberland, but there appeared likelihood that Garrett County schools would reopen this morning.

All of the schools in Cumberland and Allegany County were closed all day yesterday so that today's closing will assure pupils of at least a two-day holiday. All were uncertain last night about whether there might be school on Friday. The County Board of Education office also will be closed today.

Willard Hawkins, Garrett County superintendent, could not be reached last night but it was understood from other sources that tentative plans were for school as usual today. Garrett County roads generally were open after the snow which varied from 10 to 15 inches. Overnight drifting was the chief concern of road workers. Garrett County schools were closed yesterday.

Mineral County schools closed about 10:30 a.m. yesterday and will remain closed today. Whether they will reopen Friday was uncertain.

Allegany County elementary schools had already been scheduled for a holiday today. The reason was that all of the elementary teachers of the county had been scheduled to attend an all-day social studies conference today at West Side School.

However, the conference now has been postponed indefinitely, probably until April. The consultant, Dr. George Manolakes, director of the Department of Early Childhood and Elementary Education at New York University, had arrived here Tuesday night to conduct the conference. However, when the snow closed schools yesterday he was unable to observe classes in action.

The three supervisors of elementary education, who jointly had arranged the program, decided yesterday that it might be difficult for some of the county teachers to get to West Side School from distant points. They are Miss Margaret E. Doak, Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Miss Mildred E. Willison.

Mrs. Mildred Sowers, state supervisor of elementary education, also was here to attend the conference. She expects to confer with the county supervisors this morning.

Yesterday's nearly 17-inch snowfall also forced postponement of the planned visit to Allegany County by the University of Maryland's Symphonic Band. The band had been scheduled for a concert last night at Allegany High School and tonight at Frostburg State Teachers College. Appearances at assemblies also had been scheduled today at Fort Hill and Valley high schools. The tour is expected later.

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, said last night that he was expecting to hold classes at the college today but a final decision was to be deferred until about 5 a. m. today.
